WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT IT.

Facts and Rumors Around the City Hall —What Was Said at the Controller's and at the Mayor's Offices Yesterday.

News around the City Hall was remarkably scarce yesterday. Politicians had exhausted all their small talk in regard to Mayor HALL's letter to Controller CONNOLLY and the Controller's reply, and it seemed to be well understood that the fight was at an end for the present, and that when it broke out again it would take some different form from letter-writing. The Controller was busy all the morning with a member of the Investigating Committee, and clerks with ledgers and bundles of papers were kept running about from the general to the private office at quite a lively rate. Few visitors called on the Controller, and the office seemed far quieter and more deserted than usual. The County Auditor was also closeted with the Controller for some hours. The statement that a correct list of the missing vouchers had been made out, he said, in answer to a question from our reporter, was entirely incorrect. No such list would be forthcoming for some days.

The Mayor arrived at his office about 2 P. M., and seemed to be in an unusually cheerful mood. He declared that there was nothing new in his department, "nothing whatever," and immediately set himself to work writing letters at a great rate. The rumor that, in the event of Mr. CONNOLLY's being induced to vacate his office, Mr. AUGUST BELMONT will succeed him, gains ground. Several long interviews have recently taken place between the Mayor and Mr. BELMONT, and it is said that yesterday a formal proffer of the position to Mr. BELMONT was made. Mr. BELMONT is known to be anxious to have it, as he and his house in Hamburg are largely interested in City and County bonds, and he believes that his acceptance of the office would tend greatly to strengthen the credit of the City. The Mayor, however, is reticent on the subject, and thinks it will be time enough to announce the name of Mr. CONNOLLY's successor when that official has resigned.

Mr. Tweed Still Reticent.

A policy of entire reticence on the important questions of the day seems to have been adopted by the members of the "Ring." To this decision Mr. TWEED is no exception, but seems to have sternly bridled his tongue in view of possible untimely exposures.

Visited by our reporter, yesterday, Mr. TWEED was entirely courteous and affable, but expressed himself as fixed in his determination not to commit himself by an expression of opinion to any member of the Press.

He said: "Brevity is the soul of wit, and silence is, in my case, the safest course; it certainly is the easiest thing to hold my tongue. My opinions may be of importance, or they may not; they may be entirely erroneous;—and I think it much the wisest course for me to refrain from expressing them."

The reporter remarked that public opinion seemed to condemn Mayor HALL strongly for his action with regard to Mr. CONNOLLY. Mr. TWEED expressed some surprise, and observed that he had very little opportunity of obtaining any knowledge of public opinion.

Another Rumor.

A gentleman states that he learned on what he deems good authority, that CONNOLLY is to be forced from his position, and that it is to be tendered to NATHANIEL SANDS, that the latter is to decline to serve, and then that HENRY HILTON is to be appointed.

Were These the Missing Vouchers?

A correspondent writes as follows: "It is supposed the vouchers were abstracted in Tammany style some time on Sunday evening last. On Monday morning, at about 8 o'clock, as our informant was proceeding home through Centre-street, his attention was attracted to a man acting in a strange, if not suspicious, manner. Under his arm he carried a package, the contents of which he seemed anxious to dispose of as privately as possible. Looking around frequently to see if he was watched, as he approached a convenient sewer he would snatch some paper from the bunch, which resembled accounts, and, tearing them into shreds, consign them to oblivion, hurrying on in the same manner until he reached Worth-street, where he finished the job at a garbage barrel, and started double-quick toward Elm-street. He was a tall, slim-faced man, with a full beard, and wore a light suit. An important fact is that our informant recognized him as one he feels confident, who was once, if not at present, a clerk in the Controller's office, and frequently in company with politicians around the Court-house.

CITY CREDITORS.

A Scene in the New Court-House—Croton Laborers Clamorous for Their Pay—The Controller Refuses to Sign the Warrants.

At quite an early hour yesterday morning some 300 laborers, who have been employed by the Croton Department, assembled in the vestibule of the new Court-house, and commenced to talk somewhat loudly in regard to the arrears of pay due to them, which in many cases exceeded six weeks. A few of them visited the City Chamberlain's office, and had an interview with the Paymaster. Mr. WHEELAN, who assured them that he would most gladly settle all their claims had he the means to do so, but that he had received no money for them. They then left and were soon joined by others, so that in a short time the vestibule of the Court-house, the stairways and the corridors were crowded with the creditors of the City, all talking excitedly and even angrily, and in a few cases threatening that they would take summary vengeance on some of the heads of departments if they could only catch them.

In the meantime the Twenty-sixth Precinct Police had received notice of what was going on, and half a dozen blue-coated functionaries soon made their appearance and distributed themselves around the building. The excitement seemed, however, to be on the increase, and suddenly quite a large body of them made a rush for the stairs, intending to enter the Chamberlain's office, but a couple of policemen stationed at the doorway of the office, at once stepped forward and barred the way. They refused to permit any one to enter, and the men quieted down somewhat. Just at this time, Mr. RICHARD STORRS, Deputy Controller, stepped out of his own office and addressing the men urged them to be patient. Nothing, he assured them, could be gained by violence. The pay-rolls and warrants, he said, were ready, and just as soon as the Controller arrived they would undoubtedly be signed and all their claims be adjusted, and this would probably be within half an hour. One of the leading men then came down and told this to his fellows, and, he remarked, "as the priest that always comes round to collect subscriptions on pay day has just gone into the Paymaster's office, I guess it's all right." The crowd now began to thin off, and a number went out in front of the City Hall to look upon the trades' procession. The Controller had, in the meantime, arrived, but it appeared that he declined to sign the warrants for the men's pay, taking refuge in the fact that an injunction had been served on him, and which he professed to consider as applying to all payments whatever. About 3 o'clock the Deputy Controller, Chamberlain BRADLEY, and the Paymaster, visited the Mayor's office, and on their return it was announced that an arrangement had been made with the Broadway Bank by which the claimants would obtain their money this morning. This appeared to be satisfactory, and the crowd left.

There are, it seems, 2,300 of these men who have not been paid for six weeks. For some time past numbers of them have assembled in the rotunda of the new Court-house, inquiring about their pay, and also endeavoring to find a person to cash their claims, or "buy their time," as they call it, at a discount. Under ordinary circumstances this was easy enough, but since the litigation against the Ring commenced, the purchasers of City claims have held aloof. Many of the men who assembled in the Court-house yesterday are of the very poorest class, have large families and large claims against the City amounting to $100 and over. The question as to why they cannot be paid every week, as all other laborers are, has never yet been answered. They are now compelled to leave their work, come down town, and, as in this instance, lose days in obtaining the money which they should have handed to them every Saturday night.

The Complaint of the Laborers.

A reporter accidentally, at the foot of the stairs which lead to the Finance Department yesterday afternoon, was almost violently seized by three or four working men who had met him as a reporter previously, and before he knew what was coming he was surrounded by working men not violent, but under the influence of very strong feeling. They begged the reporter to state to the public their trouble. Those who were present were all engaged on laying the Croton Aqueduct mains, though they said nearly if not fully two thousand engaged on the Public Works were in the same condition. For six or, now almost seven, weeks, they had not received one cent of pay, though the regular pay-day was every two weeks. Some of the laborers were in absolute destitution, compelled to walk the whole length of the City from their homes to their work, ready to steal an apple from a stand, though as a rule honest, or a turnip or onion from an up-town garden, which ordinarily they would not think of entering but for hunger. The men who told this looked like honest laborers. One of them at least is known to the reporter to bear a very honest reputation. They blamed entirely Controller CONNOLLY, one or two adding Mayor HALL, and they specially charged on the Controller that while he left them to thus suffer, though their foreman had properly presented their bills to him, he had paid off sinecure lists promptly and readily on their mere words. They wished that they were among the employes of the Department of Public Parks, who had hitherto been, they said, promptly paid.

They asked the reporter to give their statement, and he gives it as they said it.

CONNOLLY'S ACCOUNTS.

Meeting of the Investigating Committee—Subcommittees Appointed.

The Citizens' Committee, appointed to investigate the accounts of the Finance Department of the City and County, met at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in secret session. After the doors had remained closed for over an hour, the Joint Committee of Supervisors and Aldermen were invited in, and Alderman DIMOND was, as usual, called to the chair.

Alderman WOLTMAN then moved that the following subcommittees be appointed, to report on the various subjects indicated by the names of the Committees:

City and County Debts, Funded and Unfunded, Sinking Fund and Accounts—Messrs. Phelps, (Chairman,) Osborne, Kennedy and Jerome.

Armories and Drill-Rooms—Messrs. Solomon, (Chairman,) Pearsall and Woltman.

Court-House—Messrs. Donaldson, (Chairman,) Claflin and Plunkitt.

Printing, Advertising, Stationery and Blank-Books—Messrs. Cutting, (Chairman,) Jeremiah, Pearsall and Schlichting.

Pay-Rolls—Messrs. Spofford, (Chairman,) Roosevelt and Dimond.

Law and Corporation Ordinances—Messrs. Porter, (Chairman,) Parsons and Welsh.

On motion of Mr. BOOTH, Mr. J. B. DONALDSON and Mr. JOHN E. CARTER were added to the Committee.

Alderman PLUNKITT moved that the Chairmen of the Board of Supervisors and Aldermen be ex officio members of the Committee. It was adopted.

Mr. BOOTH suggested that as Mr. JEREMIAH was very aged and feeble, it would be well to add Mr. PEARSALL to the Committee on Printing and Advertising, so that Mr. JEREMIAH could be relieved of some of the duties of his position if necessary.

The Committee then adjourned subject to call.

The Committee have not, so far as could be ascertained, decided on any specific mode of investigating the accounts. The City and County debt will, however, it is understood, claim their attention first, and then the enormous charges made for furnishing the new Court-house and the armories and drill-rooms. As the vouchers for the latter are, however, missing, it is difficult to see how any satisfactory results can ever be arrived at, and the same remark applies to the charges for printing and stationery. Yesterday one of the Committee had a long interview with the Controller, and inspected the general ledger and had the mode of keeping the Departmental accounts explained to him. In the meantime Mr. HARDY, their clerk, is busy collecting the 400 and odd documents they desire to have laid before them and in transferring them as collected to the rooms occupied by the Committee, which consists of the large chamber usually devoted to the meetings of the Board of Supervisors and a very small ante-room.

The Committee of Seventy—Proceedings in Secret Session—Definite Action Taken.

At the secret meeting of the Executive Committee of Seventy, Tuesday, the Committee on Remedies submitted a report which was read by the Chairman, Mr. SPAULDING. It recommended the institution of both civil and criminal suits against the officials implicated in the recent frauds—the appointment of committees on elections and legislation, also a committee of ten to wait upon the Governor of the State, and request his aid, and in conjunction with the Attorney-General and the District-Attorney to begin proceedings for the relief of the City. After considerable discussion the report was accepted, and its several recommendations were unanimously adopted.

A resolution was offered to the effect that the Committee assume the injunction suit of Mr. JOHN FOLEY, which was referred to the Committee on Remedies with power.

A committee of five was appointed to examine the City and County accounts, vouchers, &c., in obedience to the requirement of one of the resolutions adopted at the citizens' meeting held at Cooper Union on the evening of Sept. 4.

The following-named gentlemen were appointed said Committee:

G. C. Barrett, F. Schalk,
John Wheeler, Wm. H. Wickham.
S. D. Babcock,

The Chairman has since announced the following additional appointments:

COMMITTEE TO WAIT UPON THE GOVERNOR.

Hon. Edwards Pierrepont, Hon. Thomas A. Ledwith,
Major-Gen. John A. Dix, Hon. James Emott,
James M. Brown, Esq., Gen. Isaac H. Bailey,
Gov. Edward Salomon, Hon. John Wheeler.
Hon. Robert B. Roosevelt,

Hon. HENRY G. STEBBINS, Chairman.
Hon. WM. F. HAVEMEYER, Vice-Chairman.

COMMITTEE ON VACANCIES IN THE GENERAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Hon. W. F. Havemeyer., R. B. Nooney, Esq.,
H. N. Beers, Esq.

The remaining committees will be announced at the next meeting.

The Committee on Permanent Accommodations for the use of the General Executive Committee were instructed to procure the same in the upper part of the City.

Progress was reported by a member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

The meeting then adjourned to Friday next, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, No. 63 William-street.

The Germans Aroused—A Mass-Meeting With Regard to the Ring Frauds to be Held.

The General Committee of the German-American National Verein, formed a few months since under the auspices of the late Peace Jubilee Committee, met at the Germania Assembly Rooms, last evening, for the purpose of receiving reports of the Executive Committee, and of the Committee of Twelve appointed at the last meeting, for the purpose of looking into the condition of the administration of the local government. Ex.-Gov. SALOMON presided. The report of the Executive Committee was read, embracing a review of the action of the Committee, and setting forth that the same is represented in the Committee of Seventy, appointed at the citizens' meeting at the Cooper Institute, where the German organization was fully represented. The Committee is composed of Messrs. G. Burchard, Henry Clausen, F. Ellinger, Dr. Gerke, A. Klamroth, C. Kuhn, V. Precht, E. Sauer, W. Wallach, D. Zollikoffer and W. Radde. The Executive Committee reported the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Executive Committee be authorized to make, in connection with other German organizations and influential German citizens, arrangements for a mass-meeting of the independent German citizens, in order to adopt a plan of action in the sense of the resolutions passed at the citizens' meeting at the Cooper Institute.

The following resolution, presented by the Executive Committee, was also passed by a unanimous vote:

Resolved, That the Executive Committee be authorized to prepare a plan for District and County Conventions, for the purpose of ratifying nominations and to make nominations of candidates, and to take the measures necessary to bring this plan into execution.

After the transaction of some routine business, the General Committee adjourned.

PERU.

The Commencement of a Revolution—Expectation of a General Revolt—The American Consul's Warning—Interesting General News.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LIMA, Tuesday, Aug. 22, 1871.

Much excitement has been caused here by an abortive attempt at revolution. On the night of the 15th the Government received information that a plot had been arranged, and that several of the battalions of the national troops had been secured to aid in displacing the present Executive. The attempt was to have been made at 3 o'clock in the morning of the 16th. President BALTA promptly ordered the arrest of several officers and prominent civilians who were implicated. Among the officers are Gens. NOVOA and ZALETA. The civilians include Señors M. A. BRADO, N. ELESPUEN and Dr. M. ALVAREZALL. All are now in prison. The object of the conspirators was to surprise the Government and avoid an election of a President by the people. The application of Señor Don GREGARIO PEREZ to be admitted to bail has been refused. PEREZ was charged with attempting, a few months ago, to seize a portion of the Peruvian squadron at anchor in the Bay of Callao. In view of the probability of serious trouble among contending factions in Peru the United States Consul for Callao and Lima, Major WILLIAMSON, has issued an address of warning to the American residents. He calls upon them to abstain from any participation in the political affairs of the country, and urges a passive indifference, stating that the United States will not be held responsible for the acts of any rebellious Americans. Also, those guilty of revolt against the Republic of Peru need not expect protection from the Consulate of the United States. On the 15th inst. the Scott centenary was celebrated in Lima, with great éclat by the foreign residents. A banquet was given at the St. James Hotel. The Queen of England the President of the United States and the President of Peru were all toasted. Mr. ROBERT ALLISEN, the Vice-President, in proposing the health of the President of the United States, said: May President GRANT's career in the political world be as brilliant and distinguished as in the military. Nay, more; may his name as a statesman eclipse that of the soldier. It is impossible to give an idea of the intensity of the political excitement in Peru. It is certain that there will be a revolt, and if that occurs ECHINIQUE, the army and clergy candidate, will obtain the Presidency. TALCA.

The Murder of the Aged Brother and Sister of John Harper.

Telegrams to the Cincinnati papers give some details of the murder of JACOB HARPER and his sister at Midway, Ky., on the night of the 10th inst. It appears that the bloody deed was done with a meat-ax belonging to the house, and that the old man was killed outright by blows on the head with its blunt end, while his sister was so fearfully gashed with its blade that her recovery is impossible. The ax was found covered with blood, concealed in some bushes in front of the house. The old man when found was lying with one foot hanging over the bed and his head fearfully mashed. His sister BETSEY was still alive, but the back part of her head was broken in. The couple thus assassinated were very old. They were the brother and sister of JOHN HARPER, the owner of Longfellow. The murdered man was a farmer, and about eighty years of age, and his sister was not much younger. Another brother, ADAM, who was the business-man of the family, was killed by guerrillas during the war. In the confusion and excitement there were of course innumerable conjectures as to the motives that prompted the commission of this terrible crime, but the supposition most generally accepted is that it was done by negroes, who formerly belonged to them, and who expected to get the money of the old couple after their death. It is said the negroes believed a will had been made to that effect, and they were tired of waiting for the end to come naturally. Three negro men, who were found lying concealed in a neighboring field, and whose clothes were very bloody, were arrested and lodged in jail. HARPER and his sister lived on the old Frankfort road, about three miles from Midway. The old people were the only occupants of the house—the servants sleeping in a little frame house some fifty or sixty feet back of the main dwelling. Their economical almost penurious habits were well known, and the impression was general that they kept their treasure concealed about the house. Against the theory of revenge or spite it was urged that the old people, though very close in all their dealings, were thoroughly fair and honest, and too infirm and inoffensive to engender hatred. So the good people who flocked to the old house were puzzled. They could make nothing of the case whatever.

FRANCE.

Important Message from President Theirs—He Asks the Deputies to Appeal to their Constituents—Is France to Have a Monarchy or a Republic?

VERSAILLES, Sept. 12.—In the Assembly today a long message from President THEIRS was received, the reading of which lasted half an hour. M. THEIRS says the member have well earned a suspension of their arduous labors. He promises in the meantime to work incessantly for the reorganization of the country and frankly asks the Deputies to ascertain from their constituents at home whether the country wishes for reconstruction based on the glorious tradition of a thousand years, or for the abandonment of the ship of state to a torrent leading to an unknown future—in brief, whether the people want a monarchy or republic. The President says he submits to the decisions of the Budget Committee; his only reason for asking for additional taxes was to provide for the redemption of the debt. He concludes with an exhortation to the members to work like a crew in danger of shipwreck with the port in sight. The message was coldly received, some passages provoking laughter. The Assembly then proceeded to discuss, and finally adopted, a bill providing for the prorogation of the session from the 17th day of September until the 4th of December, 1871. The main feature of the bill is the appointment of a Committee of twenty-five to control the Government during the recess.

Disarmament of the National Guard—The Orleans Princes to Enter the Assembly.

PARIS, Sept. 13.—Orders to put in force the law for the disarmament of the National Guard have been sent to Departments of the Rhone, Gard and Loire. The Patrie intimates that, after the recess, the Duke D'AUMALE and Prince DE JOINVILLE will take their seats in the Assembly.

Vernon Harcourt to Remain in the English Parliament—A Cholera Panic at Cardiff.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—The report that Mr. VERNON HARCOURT intends to resign his seat in Parliament is false. The Allan steam-ships, conveying the mails to Halifax, will hereafter leave Liverpool on Wednesdays. The people of Cardiff are intensely indignant that the American ship Lovellet has put into that port with cholera on board.

THE DONCASTER RACES.

The St. Leger Stakes Won by the Favorite—A Fine Day and a Large Assembly—List of the Competing Horses.

DONCASTER, Sept. 13.—When legislators, lawyers and litigants have left London, and sportsmen have gone for grouse to the moors, then is Doncaster in season; and then betting men and fast men—to say nothing of fast horses—betake themselves to Yorkshire, a bright, green oasis in the "Black Country," with noisy Sheffield, Barnsley, Bradford, Leeds, and busy Hull in the horizon. At quiet times, antiquarians of the Monkbarns pattern search the neighborhood for Cæsar's Camp, or "castrum on the Don." Ivy-covered traditions have, however, no room today; they are hopelessly routed by the matter-of-fact turfite, whose wallet bulges with crisp bank-notes, to be staked on the event of the day—money that would puzzle CÆSAR, could he look down on the modern scene.

There is the field. We are upon the grand stand, whence it may be seen that the principal course is a trifle under two miles about, while the shorter courses are judicious abridgements, that known as the St. Leger being one mile, six furlongs, 132 yards. The field is almost flat, the horses at every leap of their progress being full in sight.

Of the horses themselves, it need only be said that to the last minute Baron ROTHSCHILD's filly Hannah, who cleverly won the Oaks at Epsom in the Spring, was the favorite, with Albert Victor next in the betting. The race was an extraordinarily well-contested one, and was finally won by the favorite by a mere neck. Ten horses ran. The following is a summary:

The St. Leger Stakes, of 25 sovereigns each, for three-year olds; colts 122 pounds, fillies 117 pounds; the owner of the second horse to receive 200 sovereigns, and the third 100 sovereigns, out of the stakes; 211 subscribers.

The weather was fine, and the course was in splendid condition.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Norton Defalcation—Legal Fraud in the Kuklux Cases—Prominent Arrivals.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The facts about the defalcation of Mr. NORTON, Money Order Superintendent of the New-York Post-office, as known here, are as follows: Some three weeks ago Postmaster JONES became suspicious of Mr. NORTON, owing to the fact that the proceeds from the drafts in payment of the balances due from Switzerland had not been deposited. He communicated his suspicions to the Postmaster-General and Special Agent PETHERBRIDGE being then in New-York, on his way West, he was at once instructed to look into the case. He began an investigation, and, while looking up the Swiss money-order business, struck the much larger deficit in NORTON's general account. The latter tried to evade the investigation, and made vigorous efforts to raise money to cover up the defalcation, but without success. He finally confessed the whole matter, and at once stated the amount of the deficit, which proved to be $115,360. Postmaster JONES' sureties were at once notified of the facts, and a conference was held, at which NORTON made over to them all his property, both in New-York City and at Plainfield, N. J., which has since been appraised by them at $127,000. Postmaster JONES' bond is $450,000, and among his sureties are Hon. ABRAM WAKEMAN and HORACE GREELEY. NORTON's bond to JONES was $20,000. Mr. JONES is responsible on his bond for NORTON, and as the sureties are abundantly good the Department will lose nothing. NORTON has been in charge of the Money Order Department in the New-York office ever since the system was established in 1866, and was regarded as an invaluable officer. He concealed his deficit a long time by a system of false checks, drawing for a large sum, but recording the check for a sum much less, so that an examination of his check-book failed to disclose it. Postmaster JONES has manifested an earnest desire from the outset to protect the Government from loss, and his efforts will probably prove successful. He has closely watched the money-order Fund, and on one occasion, nearly a year since, when the balance reached half a million of dollars, he expressed a desire to be relieved from carrying so large an amount, and the sum of $450,000 was transferred to the credit of the Postmaster-General in the Sub-Treasury; leaving a balance only sufficient for the needs of the New-York office. Dr. MCDONALD, Superintendent of the Money Order Bureau of the Post-office Department, is in New-York, having returned from Europe yesterday.

DEFEAT OF JUSTICE BY THE KUKLUX.

The manner in which justice is meted out to the Kuklux, or rather the manner in which the Kuklux organization defeat the evidence and punishment, was strikingly illustrated at Spartanburg, S. C., last week. Two of the Kuklux, arrested some weeks ago, were tried in the United States Courts, and to the outsiders the evidence appeared complete, but to the surprise of every one the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. That is the way the Kuklux juries propose to avoid the declaration of martial law.

PROMINENT ARRIVALS.

Among the last prominent arrivals in the city are Senator HITCHCOCK and Ex-Senator THAYER, of Nebraska, and Congressman BECK, of Kentucky.

CHARGES AGAINST THE PRESIDENT REFUTED.

About a month ago the Interior Department received information of the defalcation of the Register and Receiver of the Land Office at Olympia, Washington Territory. The information was immediately laid before the President, and he ordered that LAMPER, the Receiver, should be immediately removed. When the President was here the last time he signed the appointment of ROBERT G. STUART to the position, and he hurried away with all possible haste to take charge of the office and Government property. Proper measures to insure the Government against loss if possible have been already taken, and yet a New-York paper yesterday made an indecent attack upon the President, based upon the statement that LAMPER was still retained in the office, and alleged him to be a relative, which is untrue.

THE MINIATITLAN OUTRAGE.

Capt. THURSTON, of the bark Brothers, has arrived at Baltimore, and gives a thrilling description of the attack on his vessel by the Mexicans. His story fully confirms the accounts previously published in the TIMES, though much more graphic in details.

The Colorado Election.

DENVER, Colorado, Sept. 13.—All the Republican candidates in this county are elected, except STILES, for Probate Judge, and DALY, for Treasurer. Telegrams from other counties indicate that the Republicans will have a large majority in both branches of the next Legislature.

The Yellow Fever.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 13.—There have been three deaths from yellow fever in this city within the past twenty-four hours.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 13.—In consequence of the many rumors circulated, in the face of the denial by the Mayor and physicians of this city, it is deemed necessary to reiterate the statement that there is no yellow fever here; nor has there been a single case during the season. The health of the city is unprecedentedly good, and the mortuary report of the city for the week ending Sept. 11 gives a total of twenty-two deaths, of which fifteen were negroes.

The Ward Crew at Home.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The WARD brothers, the victors in the Saratoga boat race, reached their home, at Cornwall, this afternoon, and had an enthusiastic reception. An immense crowd welcomed them at the wharf, cannon were fired, and flags were displayed everywhere. The Ward Hotel was handsomely decorated, and bore over the entrance the inscription, "Welcome Home." The WARDS say they will row no more races individually this season, and never again as a four-oared crew; that they have beaten the best crews in the world, and are satisfied.

Close of the Vanderpoel Murder Trial—Acquittal of the Prisoner.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Sept. 13.—The third trial of GEORGE VANDERPOEL for a charge of murdering his partner in the banking business, at Manistee, Mich., three years ago, closed today at Hastings, Mich., in the acquittal of the prisoner. On the first trial he was found guilty, and on the second the jury disagreed. No criminal case in this section of the country has excited the same general interest. The trial lasted over one month.

THE LONGUEIL REGATTA.

The Race Postponed Until Today on Account of Rough Water—General Challenge by the Taylor-Winship Crew.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—The Montreal regatta was fixed to take place today at Longueil, about three miles down the St. Lawrence River. The only event of any marked interest in the programme was the race for four-oared riggers, two and a half miles round a stake-boat and return. A thousand dollars constituted the first prize, and $250 was offered for the second. There were three crews to compete for this, namely, the Taylor-Winship, the Tyne, and the Barton crew, of Halifax. There was not very much betting on the result, for although there were plenty of offers to back the Taylor-Winship crew, they found but few takers. Shortly after 11 A. M. the citizens of Montreal began to flock down to the Quebec wharf, where there were some half a dozen steamers in waiting to proceed to the course. The steamer Victoria started at 12 M. with the Committee and members of the Press on board. When the Victoria arrived at Longueil, she let go her anchor alongside of the starting point for the four-oared race. The river by this time was covered with steamers and barges, all closely packed with a living freight, while bands of music enlivened the scene with some patriotic selections. Lines of booths and stands were erected along the shore, which was already black with spectators. The weather was, however, rather unpropitious, as there was a pretty stiff north-easterly breeze, which raised too much sea for shells to work in. The umpires were Mr. J. MACDONALD, of Boston, for the Renforth crew; Major WALLACE, of Lachine, for the Tyne crew, and Mr. WM. NOTMAN, for the Barton crew. Mr. NAUGHTON officiated as referee. After waiting some time TAYLOR, of the Taylor-Winship crew; PERCY, of the Tyne crew, and a member of the Barton crew came on board the Victoria, and it was finally arranged to postpone the race until 5½, in the hopes of the weather moderating. During the interval the pedestrians on shore had a pretty good time, and the booths and shows received the most liberal patronage. The Longueil House, the head-quarters of the two English crews, was besieged by crowds eager to catch a glimpse of these aquatic champions, but they very wisely kept themselves close. In the meantime the crowd on the beach, tired of doing nothing, were spoiling for a fight, which they presently consummated, and a running skirmish with stones was kept up for about five minutes, much to the edification of the peaceable spectators who looked on from a distance, but highly detrimental to the personal appearance of many of the warlike combatants. It appeared to be a perfectly free fight, without any respect to persons.

At about 5½ o'clock the umpires had several consultations about the race, but finding the water still kept too rough, it was finally decided to postpone the race until to-morrow, at 1 A. M. Shortly after this decision was announced, the steamers all returned to Montreal, and Longueil was deserted for the night. The Taylor-Winship crew feel very sore about their defeat at Saratoga, and have authorized the publication of a challenge that they will pull the WARD brothers, St. John crew, Coulter-Biglin crew, or any other crew they have met this season, a six-mile race, three miles round a stake-boat and return, at Lachine, on the 2d of October, for $2,500 a side. This is a very fair offer, and it is to be hoped that either the Wards, St. John or Coulter-Biglin crews will accept, and give them a trial. The course at Lachine is one of the best in the country. MASSACHUSETTS RAILROADS.

Important Action of the State Commissioners—They Propose to Prevent Future Negligence by Officials.

BOSTON, Mass, Sept. 13.—The Massachusetts Board of Railroad Commissioners have issued a circular requesting the several railroad companies of the State through their proper officers to meet them for a conference on the 19th instant at Boston. The Commissioners say that in the course of the investigation of the causes of the late accident at Revere certain facts nearly affecting the whole railroad system of the State were clearly established, to three of which they wish to call the particular attention of the railroad managers, with a view to preventing as far as possible the recurrence of any such calamity in future. The Commissioners maintain that the cause of the disaster at Revere was wholly unnecessary, inasmuch as the attempt of the Company to operate a single-track branch road without the aid of the telegraph, led immediately to the collision, which might have been avoided by the application of this, one of the oldest, most ordinary, and least expensive of appliances in operating railroads. The second fact established in the evidence was that the colliding train discovered the train ahead of it in ample time to have prevented the disaster had the train been equipped with brakes operated instantaneously from the locomotive, instead of the old-fashioned brake. Third—It further appeared in evidence, and was in no way controverted by the Company, that the stations upon this part of their road were but short distances apart, and that every facility, so far as employes, &c., were concerned, existed for a very perfect system of signals indicating the proximity of trains. No such appliances were, however, in use, nor, indeed, had their adoption ever been considered.

THE WEATHER.

Synopsis of Events and Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—1 A. M.—The barometer has risen since Tuesday night from Wisconsin to Lake Ontario and northward. It has fallen, but is now again rising, in the Middle and Eastern States. The area of lowest pressure extends from Louisiana to Missouri. The temperature has risen slightly on the Gulf, and fallen somewhat on Lakes Ontario and Superior. Increasing north-easterly winds prevail on the lakes and south-westward to the Missouri River, and light winds elsewhere. Dense smoke is expected from Lakes Ontario and Erie; cloud and rain from Iowa to Kentucky and Tennessee; partially cloudy and clearing weather on the Gulf and South Atlantic coast.

PROBABILITIES.

The barometer will probably rise slightly on Thursday on the Gulf coast, but fall very generally on the Atlantic and the lakes, after rising somewhat more to-night. The area of cloud and rain will probably extend northward to Lakes Erie and Superior, with strong north-easterly winds, and increasing easterly winds, with threatening weather, extend to the middle Atlantic coast by Thursday noon.

Gallant Conduct by a Member of the Ninth Regiment Band.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 13.—As a lady and gentleman were crossing the track at the depot here, the tender of the Boston express struck the lady and knocked her under the wheels. LOUIS ALEXANDER, a member of the Ninth New-York Regiment Band, seeing the lady in danger at the risk of his life rescued her. The wheels of the tender passed over the lady's foot, crushing it badly.

THE INJUNCTION.

Wm. M. Tweed's Affidavit at Last Presented.

A General Denial of all the Allegations of Fraud and Malfeasance—Arguments of Counsel Commenced—Addresses of Messrs. Strahan and O'Gorman.

The proceedings in the case of JOHN FOLEY against the Mayor, Commonalty, &c., and others of the "Tammany Ring," were promptly resumed before Judge BARNARD at 11 A. M. yesterday. There was no diminution, but, on the contrary, an evident increase of interest on the part of the large audience who crowded the Court during the entire day's proceedings. More than an hour before the opening of the Court, large numbers of tax-payers began to arrive, and secured convenient seats inside the bar, which they persistently retained until the adjournment, while those who arrived at a later hour were compelled to content themselves with standing room.

The only further papers read in the case were two affidavits made by WILLIAM M. TWEED, the one, a brief one, submitted in his own behalf, and the other, somewhat more elaborate, submitted by Mr. O'GORMAN on behalf of the defense generally.

MR. TWEED'S AFFIDAVITS.

The substance of Mr. TWEED'S affidavits are as follows: In that submitted on behalf of himself he sets forth that the defendants, before the granting of the injunction, met as a Board of Apportionment, in conformity with the State law, and fixed the amount to be raised as in the first section of the act provided, and set apart so much of said sum to be raised by tax in the year 1871 as may be necessary for the payment of the interest on the bonds and stocks of the City and County of New-York which shall become due and payable from taxation in the year 1871, and for the payment of so much of the principal of said bonds and stocks as may become due and payable from taxation within said year, and also so much as may be necessary to pay the proportion of the State tax to be paid by the City and County of New-York in said year, and apportioned the remainder thereof among and set apart to the various departments and purposes of the City and County of New-York for the year 1871.

In his affidavit, submitted on the part of the defense generally, he sets forth in substance that, all the allegations in the complaint, charging that he, as an individual, or in conjunction with others, had been guilty of official fraud, conspiracy, misconduct, neglect of duty, disregard of law, or any other wrong, are untrue; that he has never in conjunction with any person or persons associated himself for the purpose of receiving large or other sums from the City Treasury, nor has he any interest in the paper known as the New-York Leader; that he is not interested in the New-York Transcript Association, the Manufacturing Stationers' Company, or the New York Printing Company, and never conspired to give them a monopoly of the City and County patronage; that to no persons, to his knowledge, have associated themselves together to act the laws at defiance, or receive large pecuniary benefits at the public expense, or destroy the barriers or checks established by the Legislature to protect the Treasury; nor has he as an individual or official ever associated himself with any one for such purpose; that JAMES H. INGERSOLL is not and never was his confidential agent in the manner alleged in the complaint, nor has said INGERSOLL ever pretended to act as such agent; that the claims named in the complaint as having been paid INGERSOLL, GARVEY and others were not fraudulent on their face, nor was any fraudulent certificate ever signed by him to his knowledge; that the expenditures of and for the Department of the City Government over which he presided have never been excessive, and that full regard was paid to the requirements of the City and County Government over which he has control.

MR. STRAHAN'S ARGUMENT.

Mr. STRAHAN then said: The motion which I submit to your Honor in behalf of the plaintiff in this case is that the injunction heretofore granted ex parte be continued until the decree is pronounced upon the merits of the issues which are involved in this suit. The plaintiff, Mr. FOLEY, comes into Court as a resident in this City, as one assessed, to claim relief against the Government during these two and a half years, amount to the enormous sum of $147,000,000, or an average of $59,087,948 50, or upward of 5½ per cent. upon the entire amount of real and personal estate subject to taxation within the City and County of New-York. In the amount of the debt stated we have included the total amount raised by revenue bonds during the present year, in anticipation of the revenue amounts, to upward of twenty millions odd. We have done that, Sir, because it represents correctly the amount of the debt as it exists at this period. We allege that certain of the officials, in defiance of the laws, contrary to the laws, entered into a contract with the City and County, in which contract large sums of money were taken from the Treasury and secured to themselves.

We allege specifically that the defendant, WM. M. TWEED, was connected with the New-York Printing Company and New-York Transcript. That during the year 1869 and '70, the period covered, as I have stated, during which the financial operations of the said CONNOLLY are under investigation, the amount of appropriations made by law for advertising, for printing, for stationery, for all purposes, amounted to $1,084,146 53. That statement is admitted by all the defendants, and we go on to say that during the period for which these appropriations were made, the sums paid and claimed for advertising, printing, stationery for the City and County, particularly the New-York Transcript and New-York Printing Company, exceed by the sum of $7,000,000 the amount of the claims made but not paid to the several associations and companies by $3,000,000, and that statement is not denied by the defendants. The charters of 1857 and 1870 provide that no member of the Common Council, head of department, Chief of Bureau, deputy thereof or clerk therein, or any other officer of the Corporation, shall be directly or indirectly interested in any contract, work or business, or the sale of any article, the expense, price, or consideration of which is paid from the City Treasury. Now, under the provisions of those laws it was illegal on the part of the officials of either the City or County to make any contract or incur any liability for printing, stationery or advertising during 1869 and 1870 exceeding the appropriations, or the sum of $1,084,146 53, but in defiance of these provisions of the law these officials incurred, during the period of 1868 and 1869, claims to the amount of near $7,000,000. There is an affidavit here by Mr. WILBUR, President of the Printing Company and President of the Transcript Company, which says that up to April, 1870, TWEED was stockholder in both of these associations. It is the period for 1869 and 1870, and upon these papers the defendants stand confessed that TWEED was, during this period, in connection with these associations, and I rather think the fact, which is so notorious, that he was the entire association himself. [Applause.]

Judge BARNARD—Quit that, immediately.

Mr. STRAHAN—He states that he assigned his interest in 1870, but to whom he assigned his interest we have no information; and all the information which the President now gave us was that none of these officials are stockholders. But, Sir, there is a very significant fact admitted in all the answers here which must be taken in connection with this transfer of the defendant TWEED, and it is this: We allege that up to this date the printing Company for the manufacture of the printing of the City and County, and the stationery Company for the manufacture of stationery, supplied all the departments and purposes of the City and County Government, and it is rather a strange thing how a New-Jersey manufacturer, named MCLOUGHLIN could have such tremendous influence as to come into the City of New-York and be able to secure all the manufacturing of stationery, from the proceeds of which a very valuable perquisite is derived, and to buy the monopoly of supplying all the departments with such articles at the expense of the public Treasury. [Applause.]

Judge BARNARD—Gentlemen, if you try that on again, you will walk out in the rain.

Mr. STRAHAN—I confine myself particularly to that particular state of the case in so far as the admission of the Presidents of those associations are concerned, and to our allegation that there are outstanding claims in connection with the printing and stationery during 1869 and 1870 to the amount of $3,000,000, to entitle us to a continuance of this injunction against the payment of those claims until we have this matter investigated. We also make the allegation that the Mayor of the City is connected with the New-York Leader Association. He, himself, is not very sure whether he is not. In his affidavit he states that "he has not much connection or any;" but whether he means to rely on the "not much" or "any" he has not given us any information. We allege that there are others of the City officials connected with that paper. We might, of course, set forth that the Treasurer of the association was the Chamberlain of the City, for that fact was notorious, but we think that in so far as that allegation is concerned, and the statement of the Mayor that he has "not much" or "any" connection with it, we are entitled to have this temporary injunction continued, in so far as that association is concerned, until this matter is fully investigated. The Mayor admits his connection up to the date he became Mayor, and is not very sure how he stands since that period. Sir, in so far as the statements which affect those officials in connection with those associations are concerned, it is an exceedingly unsatisfactory matter to have them tried upon affidavits. Well, Sir, we come on to state in our complaint that not only was the printing and stationery contracted for to a large extent in excess of the appropriations, and that, the example being thus set by the defendant, TWEED, a number of others came upon the field, and the safe-guards of the Legislature protecting the Treasury were still further trampled upon so as to enable them to get a share out of the public purse. We select one item by way of illustration, which we set forth in the eighth subdivision of our complaint. We there state that for repairs to county buildings and offices, the appropriations for 1868 and 1869 were as follows: For 1868, $40,000; for 1869, $30,000; or together, $70,000. Now, sir, according to the law, that was the entire amount which could be expended for this purpose during either of those years, which could lawfully be contracted to be expended during those years; and we make the allegation that the sums paid in 1869 and 1870 to the County Treasury for the single item of repairs claimed to be done to county buildings and offices was $1,272,659 10; to repairs in 1869, $1,475,793 81; together, $2,748,452 91. The law authorized and allowed an expenditure of $70,000. The City officials contracted and paid $2,000,000 above excess and enormous sums. We go on, Sir, to state that during 1868 and 1869 claims were made in names of parties who never had any existence; were made in names of firms and parties who never existed; made for work never done; that they were false and fraudulent upon their face. I am speaking in the presence of gentlemen whose experience has been far greater than mine, but I think I am stating what is undoubted law—that to meet such a specific allegation as we make here that these documents were fraudulent upon their face, the only answer in equity and justice which could be given, was the production in Court before your Honor, of those vouchers. Where are they, gentlemen? They have very conveniently, it is publicly stated, disappeared. They have disappeared at the very moment when they were called for, when the truth—or falsity—that has been flying around for many weeks and months in connection with this matter could be judicially determined. It will not do for the Mayor to come in and presume that the public will accept his bare, naked affidavit that they are fraudulent upon their face. Now, Sir, there is no denial here of the specific allegations we make in subdivision 8 of our complaint; that the only existence which INGERSOLL & CO. ever had was in the presenting of claims and the receipting of amounts when paid. It is not denied that INGERSOLL made up the claims, amounting to over $2,500,000. Part of the work claimed for GARVEY is stated to have been performed by one PHILLIPPO DONARUMMA, to the extent of $66,412 89; part by one R. J. HENNESSY, to the extent of $62,491 18, and part by one J. C. CASHMAN, to the extent of $64,090 49. None of the parties ever performed any such work for the County, and the claims made in their names were false and fraudulent. The other claims made by said GARVEY were also exorbitant in every particular, and charged for work never performed or supplied. Now I come to the real substantial question which we bring before the Court, in reference to which we asked to have applied the present remedy. I refer to these matters principally for the purpose of justifying the position which we take here; may, for justifying our appearance here before your Honor today. We ask your Honor to prevent that being done, and compel the Board of Apportionment to act as the statute declares they are bound to act, and provide for the payment of that debt and of the amount which is to be raised by taxation. Since they became a Board of Apportionment in April last, they have ordered to be raised money upon bonds to the amount of $20,380,000. If difficult in dealing with such gentlemen, to say what language can be used with the view of providing safeguards for the City and County Treasury. They, in the face of that statute, proceed under the authority of statutes extending back to the year 1852, and, under ordinances of the Common Council, have authorized bonds to be issued in excess of taxation to the amount of $20,380,000, as I have explained. They have fixed the taxation at $23,000,000, and have authorized already to be issued in excess of that $20,380,000, and, unless stopped, the Controller very candidly tells us it is his intention to issue these bonds. Thus the issue is fairly presented to your Honor whether, under the authority of statutes passed prior to this Two per Cent. act, these gentlemen are to be permitted to raise money for the Departments and purposes of the City and County of New-York, by means of bonds, any sum whatever.

MR. O'GORMAN'S ARGUMENT.

Mr. O'GORMAN said: If the Court please, in obedience to my official duty as Counsel for the Corporation of the City of New-York I appear here on behalf of the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty, &c., to show cause why the injunction granted by your Honor on Thursday last should be discontinued and set aside. In doing so it is my duty to aid in the elucidation of any charge which, if true, would imperil in any way the credit of this City or in any way injure the mass of its inhabitants, whom I, as Counsel for the Commonalty, officially represent. It is a great municipal machine, is this City Government of New-York. Mr. JOHN FOLEY, the plaintiff, comes here and says that this machine is out of gear, and that he is threatened with injury thereby. He comes to your Honor to see if it be out of gear, and where, and how much, and asks you to help to put it in good working order. As far as that effort is concerned, I, as the official legal representative of the City, and your Honor, the Judge of the Supreme Court, and the counsel for the other side, are in accord. But your Honor has been asked not to aid in extricating any civic difficulty, but to stop all the legal action of that municipal machine. You have stopped what I respectfully submit is the legitimate action of this great Municipal Government. You have prevented the payment of money due to various contractors, and have allowed an accumulation of interest against the City. These are difficulties which the plaintiff in this case has certainly not shown any interest entitling him to inflict upon the citizens of New-York. Mr. FOLEY states that he is a citizen, and pays taxes; how much taxes he pays he does not indicate. Be they much or little is, perhaps, of little consequence, but when you consider the smallness of the interest that he by any means can have—I speak of pecuniary interests, because it is only pecuniary interests that are to be considered in this case—it seems to me that it is going a little too far for that purpose that all the machinery of the City Government should be arrested. I know of no parties, plaintiffs in this case, but JOHN FOLEY, and it is with his interests that I mean to deal. Whether Mr. FOLEY comes here to represent his own pecuniary interests, or that it be shown suit, is of no consequence here. Has he any standing in this Court at all? That is the first question. With a rapidity, a frankness and a fullness scarcely usual in cases of this kind, without any remission of personal labor, we have met the allegations in the complaint with counter-allegations. We have made our statement of facts, and when I now argue that the complainant has in law no standing in this Court, I do it because I believe it is the manifest duty of the counsel to do so, and not because I desire to withhold any proper information from the Court. My learned friend on the other side, whose opening of this case was so creditable a performance, himself suggested doubts and difficulties on that point of the case. Let me in a few words remove the doubt, and make the difficulty an impossibility. It is admitted on the other side that up to the year 1864, no private individual, either as a citizen, taxpayer, or bond-holder, had a legal right to stop a civic corporation by a civil proceeding from wasting the property in its charge. I need only cite by way of precedent the cases of ROOSEVELT against DRAPER and, DOOLITTLE against the Supervisors of Broome County. Some time after these cases were decided, and in 1864, in an act known as the Tax Levy of the year 1864, a sentence was intruded, the phraseology of which I shall read to the Court. [Section 3 of said act, as already published, was read by the counsel.] It was decided, and rightly decided, that all acts having the same title, and the same main purpose, are local acts. In the case of PULLMAN against the Mayor, Mr. PULLMAN brought suit as a co-trustee, claiming his right, under the provisions of that act, to enjoin the Common Council from making a contract with the gas companies. At the first argument of the case your Honor decided that Mr. PULLMAN was not without some rights. He claimed, under a clause in the act of 1866, to which I ask your Honor's special attention, which stated that the sums so raised shall be applied to the objects and purposes for which the same are appropriated, and neither the Corporation nor any member or officer thereof, shall incur any liability to an amount beyond the sum so appropriated." You will see that the language of this act is almost identical with the one referred to by the learned counsel on the other side. Your Honor held that that clause gave Mr. PULLMAN the right to seek the relief he required. It came up afterward on appeal, and was decided by the General Term, your Honor being also on the bench, that this clause, being in a local act, and not being necessarily a part of the act, was unconstitutional. The question of constitutionality is, therefore, raised in the case. Section 16, article 3, of the act says that "no private or local bill passed by the Legislature shall embrace more than one subject, and that shall be mentioned in the title." It cases are needed to show that the act is local, the case of the People against HILLS and others may be referred to. The Court, in the case cited, ends thus: "An honest and fair interpretation requires me to hold that section 3 was inserted as a part of the act in controvertion of the constitutional provision, and is, therefore, void." The same decision was made in a recent case, that of The People against O'BRIEN, which will be found in one of the late volumes of the Court of Appeals. It then seems to me from the decision of Judge SUTHERLAND in the case just read, and the other decisions on this question, and from the general practice of the Courts, and the unvarying drift of all recent cases, there can be no doubt on the judicial mind but that the section of the act of 1864, on which Mr. FOLEY alone can rely for any standing in Court, is unconstitutional and void, and that he is not entitled to be heard in this suit against any of these defendants. And that, I respectfully say, is a bar—a constitutional bar—imperative on the Court to stop any further defense in this proceeding. But even if the constitutional provision were not imperative, it is clear that, by virtue of that clause, it is only between the Supervisors and Mr. FOLEY that the relation of cestui que trust can exist. If you give him any rights at all, it is alone against the Supervisors. He has no right to ask anything as against any of the other defendants, and as to the Supervisors supposing that he had a right to sue them in this case, they are thus severed from the defendants in this injunction is being religiously observed by them; that they have been following the exact course of the law. So that, so far as they are concerned, what is the use of their being enjoined? They do not object to it. [By Mr. BARTLETT—"Except as a reflection on them."] It is not against the past Government that Mr. FOLEY asks relief—it is against the present Government of the City of New-York. Up to 1870 the form and substance of the Government altogether differed from what it is now. It was formed then of various heterogeneous and antagonistic elements—it was not a civil Government but a State Government—and the civic authorities should scarcely be held responsible for very much that might have been objectionable in its proceedings. But it is not against the Government of 1869 or the Government of 1870 that the learned counsel on the other side have advised their client to prosecute. As far as Mayor HALL is concerned, whom I represent in this motion, he has stated that he has no connection with any persons who are contractors in any way for the City Government—he has stated so distinctly. He has denied his connection—his pecuniary connection—with the Leader newspaper. He states that during his time of office he has signed 38,000 warrants. He says that he never knew any warrants to issue he had reason to think was unjust and unfair. There is no doubt that when the old spendthrift form of government existed—if it were spendthrift—it left a large debt and difficulty to its successors. Against that difficulty they fought as well as they might. On the part of my clients I stand here to ask what is there in the present condition of the civil Government, what is there threatened in future, which Mr. FOLEY, the plaintiff, has a right to complain of? The question is whether, in the financial government of the City of New-York, any error has been committed. Now the learned counsel at the other side said that the Tax law of 1871, sometimes known as the Two per Cent. law, requires that all claims accruing against the City and County of New-York in 1871 should be paid out of the taxes collected in that year. This is the question really to be argued. The amount that can be raised by the two per cent. tax, and applicable to the City Government, is $23,362,527. The State tax to be paid out of that is $6,741,986, leaving a balance of $16,621,571. In the complaint it is stated they believe $9,000,000 of bonds are coming due this year. Now the $9,000,000 of bonds accruing, the theory of the counsel for the plaintiff, are also to be paid out of the money raised by the two per cent. tax named. Deducting $9,000,000, that gives you $7,626,570—what would remain for the City Government. Now, then, for the local improvements stated in the complaint in folio 65, you find that there is to be paid out $5,213,736. Deducting that amount, what is left, according to this theory, for the carrying on of the business of the City of New-York. It is not to be supposed that the legislative mind is unstable and changing every hour and minute. I respectfully submit, your Honor, that upon these two sections as they stand there is no implied repeal; that the two acts must be supported. One explains the other, and that under them the City authorities are not only warranted in issuing consols to pay bonds of the City coming due in 1871, but it is their duty, and if they paid it out of anything else they would be violating their legal duty. If they are authorized by law to pay these bonds being due in 1871, they are not authorized to pay it out of the proceeds of the two per cent. tax. It has been the practice to issue revenue bonds in one year payable as soon as possible in the subsequent year, generally by taxes. Now, the learned counsel objects to this, and say that there is no authority for it.

Judge BARRETT—We say we do not object.

Mr. O'GORMAN—Then the clouds are clearing; therefore, Sir, we pass that. Will you say the same of the consolidated stock?

Judge BARRETT—Yes; we only object as to the applying it to the City government.

Mr. O'GORMAN—My learned friends have no objection to our issuing consolidated stock.

Judge BARRETT—What we do object to, is that there has been no appropriation.

Mr. O'GORMAN—Then there is no objection. If there is, let me see it. Now, Sir, all these improvements for parks, &c., all look to the future. They represent the greater City of New-York that is to come, and will enhance the value of property. Was that contemplated by the Legislature? Do not we know that the Croton water was paid for by bonds payable in the future? Also the Central Park, was not that too paid for by bonds? Is there anything in the circumstances of these improvements which look to the future which should weigh down the shoulders of that people who are living and laboring among us today? I hold that it was the intention of the Legislature that bonds should be issued for all these improvements. Now let me see the ground-work on which all these objections stand, first, in this law of 1871—this Two per Cent. law—in section four, your Honor will see that the issue of bonds is contemplated; no bonds, except those authorized by the concurrence and authority of all the persons mentioned in the third section of this act—that is by the Board of Apportionment. I was anxious to go on but my learned friend, (Judge BEACH,) has consented to wait until to-morrow.

Judge BARNARD—I think we will take a fresh start, then, to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

The case was adjourned until 11 A. M., to-day.

PERSONAL, POLITICAL, AND GENERAL.

Ohio's grape crop is immense.

Dr. J. D. MILLER, a brother of JOAQUIN MILLER, died in Easton, Penn., on Saturday.

SAMUEL NEEDHAM, an Indiana school-teacher, has paid $20 for brutally beating one of his pupils.

The Common Council of Montreal has at last made an appropriation of money for the repair of the dilapidated Nelson monument.

The Rochester Union once more asserts that Senator LORD is not a candidate for re-election, or for any office, this Fall.

The second reunion of Missouri Ex-Confederates is to be held at the Fair Grounds, near Lexington, on Tuesday, Oct. 10.

STERLING SLEDGE, seventy-three years of age, has been sent to the Virginia State Prison for fifteen years, which is bad for old SLEDGE.

Gov. PRESTON H. LESLIE, of Kentucky, has again declared that he is not a candidate for the United States Senate. Hon. JAMES B. BECK is among those named for the position.

A boy in Nashua, N. H., who three years ago swallowed a tin whistle, died on the 8th instant, after presenting all the symptoms of consumption.

The debt of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, to be reported at the October meeting in Salem, Mass., is only about $4,000. Last year it was $22,000.

THOMAS MELLOWS, who forty years ago emigrated from England to the town of Henrietta, Munroe County, and died there a few days ago, has never been out of the county since he settled there.

The late Commodore JOSIAH TATNALL'S eldest daughter, Miss CHARLOTTE TATNALL, died in Portland, Me., on the 8th inst., while on her way from Halifax to visit friends in New-Hampshire. She has been an invalid for some time.

Gen. BUTLER has engagements to speak in Massachusetts every day up to the meeting of the Republican Convention, and promises to speak after that time, "if circumstances seem to require it."

Some of the Democratic papers of Mississippi are insisting upon the right of the people of that State to elect Congressmen this Fall. The members elected in November, 1869, were chosen for the remainder of the Forty-first Congress, and for the Forty-second, and were admitted to their seats in the latter last March.

A young man in Maine, who had made all his arrangements to marry the daughter of a hotel-keeper in that State, a few days ago, was astounded by a demand from her father for her board during the entire time in which they had been "engaged," about four years. The youth suddenly disappeared from town.

The "secret circulars" of the Democratic leaders of Maine, by which they sought to stir up their own sluggards without the knowledge of the too-confident Republicans, were first made public by the Bangor Whig on Thursday morning, only three working days before the election. But the game was thus blocked.

A convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations in Maine is to be held at Biddeford the last week in September; of those in New-Hampshire, at Portsmouth, Oct. 3 and 4; in Vermont, at Montpelier, Oct. 12 and 13; in Massachusetts, at Northampton, Oct. 5 and 6; in Rhode Island, at Providence, Oct. 18 and 19, and in Connecticut, at Mystic, in October.

Gen. MCCOOK, on Thursday last, wrote to a friend in Cincinnati, that his recovery is beyond all peradventure, and so rapid that he is already able to walk a mile at a time. He says, however: "My physicians absolutely forbid me to take any active part in the canvass. But I have determined to write some letters by the aid of a stenographer. I am sure that will not harm me, or, of course, I would not do so."

Three men are to be executed at St. James Parish, La., on Saturday, for the murder of a clerk in a store which they robbed and burned. They threw his dead body in the river, and the execution is to take place near the spot on which the crimes were committed. Several "excursion" steamers are to run from New-Orleans to accommodate those wishing to be spectators, although it is a six hours' run from the city.

The funeral services of DANIEL KANE O'DONNEL took place in St. John's Church, Philadelphia, on Tuesday, and were largely attended, many journalists and personal friends being present. The pall-bearers were Thomas Delcamp, Charles H. Addicks, A. F. McMenamin, William H. Edwards, Joseph Henderson, and John D. Stockton. Profs. ALLEN, BEEKER and STEVENS, of Girard College, attended, and the graduates of the College were represented by a Committee.

Dr. CHARLES J. STILLE, President of the Lincoln Monument Association, of Philadelphia, has asked "the Republican Invincibles" of that city to abandon their intention to take part in the dedication of the Lincoln Monument, because they are a political club! If gentlemen of intelligence, standing and tried loyalty such as they are not to be permitted to join in honoring ABRAHAM LINCOLN whose hands they so zealously upheld, it is not worth while attempting to have any monuments "in honor of LINCOLN."

The Fall term of Yale College practically begins today. The Freshman Class will number between 140 and 150 students. The Freshman Class at the scientific school will contain nearly sixty; and over sixty applications have been made for admission to the theological school. Prof. GILMAN announced at the Alumni meeting in July that a nucleus of twenty-five had already determined to enter the new advanced courses, while as many more will, in all likelihood, join the medical and law departments. This estimate makes the total number of accessions in the various departments of the university from 300 to 335.

The presence of incendiaries in Virginia City, Nev., has alarmed the citizens, and the Enterprise talks freely of defensive measures, saying: "This thing must be stopped. We cure not how or by whom, but it must be stopped. Nor this alone. If the officers of the law cannot give the people protection, they must protect themselves; and the Courts that throw around murderers and incendiaries the mantle of protection—that encourage them in crime by frowning upon and persecuting men who have been compelled to arm in their own defense—will be taught that Judges and judicial mandates are entitled to respect only when sustained by the people."

The Mobile Register says that "Bowdoin College, which erased the name of JEFFERSON DAVIS from the list of its honorary laureati, has a defaulting cashier named ROGERS." We think the Register has been misinformed, and that DAVIS' name has not been erased from the list of "honorary" LL.D's, unless it has been deprived of that quality by his own course subsequent to the College commencement of 1858, when, in an unhappy moment of charity and conciliation, it was linked with that of WILLIAM PITT FESSENDEN, in the delusion that it was worthy of such honorable connection. DAVIS was making his memorable "tour of observation" at that time, and his presence in the North, so greatly misunderstood and misinterpreted, obtained for him the honor.

A man named JAMES MASSEY is accused of eloping from Toronto some weeks ago with his step-daughter, deserting his wife, after robbing her of all she possessed. He also took with him his two children, a boy and a girl. The Toronto Globe says it is supposed he came to the United States, and it describes him and his companions thus: "MASSEY is a man about five feet ten inches in height, very thin, slightly stooped, high cheek bones, high forehead, partly bald, and dark blue eyes. The girl with whom he eloped, his wife's daughter, is about sixteen years of age, five feet high, shoulder-blades slightly protruding, and with light sandy hair. He also abducted with him two children, a boy and a girl, the issue of his marriage with Mrs. MASSEY. The boy, named FREDERICK WILLIAM, is about four years old, fair-haired, full brow, dark blue eyes, and with a little impediment in his speech. The little girl, named LOUISA, is about six years old, fair complexion, yellow curly hair, light blue eyes, and has a small white wart on the side of her throat. Both children are very intelligent, and no doubt, under whatever disguise or coercion, would answer to their names. It is not known to what part of the United States the heartless father has absconded.

The material changes at Yale College during the nine weeks' vacation have been considerable. They are thus grouped by the New-Haven Palladium: "Durfee has been completed, and the lights shone through the new window-shutters for the first time last night. The ground in front of the building is being broken up to get it in condition for turfing. The new and elaborate heating apparatus is completed and covered up. Pipes extend underground from the immense boilers there to Alumni Hall, Farnam College, and north. Hereafter we suppose there will be a comfortable supply of caloric in these buildings. The beautiful Theological chapel has been substantially finished. The old buildings have been repainted, scrubbed, and mended to last another year at least. The long demanded system of drainage, which was commenced last year, has been completed, and the walk about the buildings will hereafter be tolerably dry. The medical school building looks much improved by its recent coat of paint. The spreading theological school has hired the house just north of the present immense hall, to be used as a temporary dormitory."

BOARD OF HEALTH.

Report of the Sanitary Committee—Slaughter-Houses—Number of Deaths Last Week.

The Board of Health held its usual weekly meeting yesterday. No. 10 Cherry-street was ordered to be vacated and thoroughly repaired and cleaned before being again tenanted.

Dr. H. BAYLEN, of No. 606 East Thirty-ninth-street, was ordered to be prosecuted for neglecting to report the case of a patient sick with small-pox.

The sunken lots in that section of the City bounded by Third and Fifth avenues, Ninety-fifth and One Hundred and Ninth streets, were ordered to be drained, as the health of the neighborhood is affected by their present condition.

City Sanitary Inspector MORRIS submitted a report showing a diminution in all contagious diseases for the past fortnight, except in measles, which numbered twelve cases last week, the number the previous week having been only five. The Sanitary Committee made extended tours of inspection on the east and west sides of the City. The slaughtering and fat-melting houses were found in perhaps as fair a condition of cleanliness as the present methods of conducting such business admits of. Disinfectants, however, were not as liberally employed as they should be. The City Sanitary Inspector has now given especial directions to the influential proprietors of these establishments requiring them to clean all their premises, and use disinfectants daily and liberally. With the single exception of the Butchers' Association, the slaughter and fat-melting establishments of New-York should not be tolerated in their present methods of conducting business. The interests of the public health, and the economic interests of these trades themselves, require that the business of slaughtering and fat-melting be concentrated in a suitable place on the river front, in one or two suitably-arranged abattoirs. The shell-burning works in West Twelfth-street were found in full operation, though the permit expired on May 1, 1871. In the opinion of the Committee, the business is now conducted is detrimental to the public health, and should not be allowed. The most serious danger of the health of the people residing at the foot of East Forty-sixth-street arises from a defect in the sewer, which allows the contents to flow through the cellars and yards of the adjoining houses. Last week there were registered 555 deaths, being the same number as for the preceding week, and an excess of sixty-three over the corresponding period of 1870. Of the total number of deaths, ninety-three occurred in public institutions. The number of reports received from the Health Inspector was 672. These reports show that during the week the Disinfecting Corps have visited twenty-six premises where contagious diseases were found, and have disinfected and fumigated twenty-three privy-sinks, together with clothing, bedding, &c. Nine cases of small-pox were removed to hospital. A large proportion of the streets and avenues on the west side, and the public markets, have been thoroughly disinfected with the "Girondin" disinfectant; the filthy portions of the streets were disinfected with quicklime. There have also been 3,125 cattle inspected at the market yards, of which twenty-nine were found bruised, and seven badly bruised. One cow quarantined, having recovered, was allowed to be sent to slaughter-house. Permits have been granted to thirty vessels to discharge cargoes, on vouchers from the Health Officer of the Port.

The Attorney to the Board reported the number of actions commenced for violation of the Health laws, and the Sanitary Inspector reported the seizure of a quantity of meat, poultry and fish which was unfit for use. The Board then adjourned.

The Democratic Party.

From the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, Sept. 11.

The country has been well informed by this time of the corruption and malfeasance of the Tammany rulers of New-York City. The independent journals have published the facts and the figures. Those facts are not contradicted; those figures have not been disputed up to this hour. The frauds in New-York are a matter of great interest to the whole country. It is ridiculous to assert that only the residents of the unfortunate City have any concern in the exposure of Tammany's wickedness. The whole nation is affected by the systematic series of official crimes that have impoverished and disgraced the Metropolis of the United States.

But it is certain that the people of the Empire State are more immediately interested in the revelations that have been brought to light in our chief City. The Democratic Party has at present the control of this State. It is undeniable that they owe their power to the very thieves who have just been brought before the Courts in New-York City. It is not now a question how they came into power. The tax-payers are more interested in asking whether they shall remain in authority and places of trust. Tammany rules the Democratic Party. TWEED, HALL, CONNOLLY and their myrmidons are the Democratic Party of New-York. The big Ring in the Metropolis has its subordinate Rings in almost every city, town and village of the State. Take many controls, with very few exceptions, the Democratic Press of the State. It is for this reason that but two or three journals of that political faith have dared to say a word against the corrupt scoundrels at the head of the New-York City Government. It is for this reason that nearly every Democratic paper in the State has refused to let its readers see a figure in the disclosures that have been made by the NEW-YORK TIMES. These plain-minded, Tammany-serving editors have attacked the TIMES and sneered at its "pretended exposures," but they have not dared to let their readers see what the TIMES has said. They have been determined to keep the Democracy of the State in ignorance. They are too thoroughly bound, body and soul, to Boss TWEED and his crew, to raise even a feeble protest against the most outrageous frauds that have ever been perpetrated in this country.

Here, then, the case stands. The leaders of the New-York Democracy are charged with the commission of willful and deliberate fraud and theft. The Press of that party at home is unanimously refuse to say a word in behalf of the aggrieved tax-payers and in denunciation of the thieves. Without regard to party, or their political feeling and faith, the prominent men in the Tammany-ridden City have declared that the charges against TWEED, HALL and CONNOLLY are true. They have brought these thieves to the bar of justice, and they call upon all honest men to unite in taking the control of the State from those who have so flagrantly abused their trust. Shall this call be respected? Will the honest voters of New-York unite in overthrowing Tammany?

It has been intimated that Tammany will not suffer any permanent loss of influence and power by the exposure of the corruption of its ruling spirits. It is said that the mass of the Democratic Party are as corrupt as the Democratic Press; that they will refuse to believe that their leaders are dishonest, or that, even if they must so believe, they care not for the morals of the men at their head so long as they guide them to success and are generous in a division of the spoils. We have too much faith in the intelligent men of the Democratic Party to believe this. That the ignorant masses of that party care whether Tammany steals or how much it steals, we do not for a moment suppose. So, too, we know that certain men can be found, in every part of this State, who boast that they always have voted with the Democratic Party and who swear that they always will vote with it. As an excited partisan of this old fogy class once said, "they would vote for the devil as a candidate with hell as a platform," if a Democratic Convention saw fit to make such a nomination. Many of these "straight-out-and-out" Democrats profess to be honest men themselves. They talk loudly about "Radical" corruption, and watch the Administration carefully to see that the "people's money" is not squandered. But these same hypocrites will shut their eyes to any exposure of Democratic plunder, and are perfectly willing to be accessories to any amount of thieving in their own party. It is not likely that such men will be at all impressed, or shaken in their abject allegiance to the Tammany Ring, by any disclosures of its corruption. They have always bowed the knee to the Democratic Baal, and they purpose to worship at his altar forever.

But there are very many voters in this State who claim to be independent. They profess to vote for the best men, no matter what their political creed or by what party they were nominated. It is to this class of voters that the Republican Party appeals, and asks for assistance in turning out the corrupt men who now rule this State. Can the independent voters of New-York honestly declare that there is any doubt in regard to the justice of the charges brought against the Tammany Ring? Can they believe that those charges would not have been answered long ago if they had not been true, almost to the letter and to the figure? Do they not know that the Tammany thieves have never yet attempted to defend themselves? Have not the independent tax-payers of this State heard the Democratic journals, big and little, say to the people, "Suppose that the charges are true, how are you going to help yourselves? Granting that the leaders of our party do steal, do squander your money, how do you intend to stop it?" It is for the independent voters to answer these questions. They must rebuke those who add arrogance and ignorance to corruption.

Is there any doubt that the Democratic Party has been tried and found wanting in New-York? The very men now arraigned as so many thieves in the Supreme Court, New-York, rule this State; they muzzle the Democratic Press; they constitute the Democratic Party. It is impossible to draw a dividing line. The brave Democrats who have come out against Tammany are denounced as traitors by the venal Press of the party. It may be a mortifying confession for honest Democrats to make, but they cannot deny that Tammany rules their party, and they must see that it is only by repudiating the men now in control throughout the State that the affairs of the people can be put into honest and reliable hands.

SURROGATE'S COURT.

Reopening Yesterday—The Board Contested Will—An Interesting Story—A New Contested Will Case Opened.

Before Hon. R. C. HUTCHINGS, Surrogate, yesterday, upon the call of the calendar of contested will cases, for the first time since the Summer vacation, thus formally opening the Court for general business, the matter of the contested will of LOUIS BONARD, who, upon his decease, devised his entire property in trust to Mr. HENRY BERGH for the benefit of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was proceeded with. The issue raised in the case yesterday was upon an application made by Messrs. CONDERT BROTHERS, counsel for contestants, for a commission to proceed to France to examine certain witnesses, relied upon to prove the existence of next of kin and heirs at law of the deceased, now alleged to be residing in that country. In making the application Mr. CONDERT presented an affidavit signed by F. R. CONDERT, one of the members of the firm, setting forth the following facts: That since the last hearing a messenger had been sent to France from deponent's office, arriving there in April last. That upon inquiry, two brothers and a sister named BONARD, residing at Havre, had been found, claiming to be the brothers and sister of testator; that the story as told by them was that they had a brother named CHARLES MARIAN BONARD, who had been several years convicted and imprisoned for crime, left Rouen in 1848, after a quarrel with his family, saying that they should never again hear from him; that upon a photograph of testator being shown it was recognized as the likeness of the lost brother. Seven witnesses residing at Lillebonne, near Rouen, were, it is also alleged, examined, all of whom testified that they had known CHARLES MARIAN BONARD personally, and declared that, from the photograph shown, he and LOUIS BONARD were the same individual. The Commission asked for was for the purpose of examining these witnesses.

In opposition to the motion, an affidavit of Mr. BERGH was presented, setting forth that he had learned of the above alleged facts from contestants' papers, but that from his knowledge and acquaintance with the testator prior to his decease, from very frequently declaring that he had no relatives living, from his general character showing himself to be a man of intelligence and education, and from other circumstances, the idea of associating LOUIS BONARD with CHAS. MARIAN BONARD, the convict, was a preposterous one. The principal argument in opposition to the appointment of a Commission was made by Judge PORTER, one of the associate counsel for the Society in support of the will, who, in a long speech defended his position. The decision of the Surrogate was reserved until today, but in regard to the question he said that, if a commission was appointed, the expenses must be paid by contestants and not out of the estate, and that, meanwhile, the case must go on from day to day until concluded.

At the conclusion of the argument in the Bonard case, a new trial was entered upon in the contested will of CHAS. B. CLARK, a resident of this City, who died May 31, of the present year, leaving an estate valued at

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 13—P. M.

The sales of Gold today were chiefly at 114 ℔ cent. The bonus paid for its use until to-morrow was less than anticipated from the appearances in the Gold Room last night. In the Foreign Exchanges there is reported, in some quarters, less depression than on Monday and Tuesday, but on inquiry we find that where sales of 60 days' Bills are made imperative the rate realized for ready Cash in Gold is not much, if any better, than 108 ℔ cent. net for first-class signatures. The quotation ranges 108@108¼ ℔ cent.

There is no apparent change in the free supply of Money to the Brokers on call loan, at 3 to 5 ℔ cent., but the feverish feeling in the Stock Market, and the disturbance of confidence from the events around the City Hall have caused more shifting of loans and an appearance of activity among some of the Stock Exchange borrowers. Merchant Discounts are 6@7 ℔ cent.

The Public Funds are lower on the heavy offerings of 5-20s, at noon, to the Sinking Fund, about five millions and a half in amount, and the comparatively low figure of the $1,000,000 accepted by the Treasury from Messrs. JAY COOKE & Co., on the cheapest offer at 112.58 ℔ cent. The 1867s, subsequently fell from 114¼ ℔ cent. to 114¼ ℔ cent., and left off 113⅞@114¼ ℔ cent.

In the Railway speculation there was marked disturbance in prices and heavy sales of some of the Western Roads like Union Pacific and North-west and also of Erie. The dealings of the day were under continual excitement, extending to several of the Miscellaneous Stocks like Western Telegraph and Pacific Mail, and to the First Mortgages of the Pacific Roads, the Unions sold largely at 90½ and the Centrals fell to 102⅜ ℔ cent. The New-York Central Scrip sold at 95 ℔ cent., which price includes the 4 ℔ cent. Dividend due in October. In the Afternoon there was rather more steadiness to the general market, and at the close of business the following quotations were made as compared with Tuesday night. The marked point in the Railway movement was the heavy sales of Union Pacific Stock all the way from 31, as quoted last night, down to 29½, and up again to 29⅞ ℔ cent:

The defalcation of about $115,000 in the City Post-Office, which is currently reported today, is said to be connected with the Money order department. It is known that a vast amount of Money orders are issued throughout the country payable in New-York. The Money for their payment, on presentation, is placed to the credit of the Postmaster by the Department at Washington. It should have been left with the Sub-Treasury in this City and drawn for as required; instead of which the chief of the Money order bureau has been suffered, by the misplaced confidence of Postmaster JONES, to make other disposition of this fund. He lodged it with a firm of Stock Brokers—in the first place to pocket the interest, which alone would have given him a handsome perquisite to his regular pay—but from one illegal act to another the step was short. From his gain in the way of interest, the defaulting deputy proceeded to use part of the principal in speculations that proved unfortunate, leaving the reported deficiency of $115,000. This falls upon the Postmaster and his sureties, who are said to be indemnified by a transfer of the property of the defaulter. The example of wrong-doing, however, loses none of its force by the fact that the Government is made secure. The firm of Brokers who employed the Money in a way which they ought to have known to be illegal, are not wholly blameless, and we feel justified in adding that they seem the less excusable because in years past, under a preceding Administration, they were in confidential relations with the Treasury, and were bonorably paid for their services.

Messrs. NIMMONS & RICHARDSON, No. 60 Stone-street, have succeeded to the business of Messrs. NIMMONS & HAUGHTON, as agents for Messrs. RICHARDSON, SPENCE & Co., of Liverpool.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of H. G. MARQUAND, of the mortgage bonds of the Vineland Road of New-Jersey.

The Jefferson Fire Insurance Company have declared a Half-yearly Dividend of Five ℔ cent., payable on demand, free of tax.

The Stock firm of MORGAN, KEENE & MARVIN being dissolved by limitation, the business will hereafter be conducted by Messrs. MARVIN & KEENE at their present location, No. 2½ Wall-street.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

☞ FIRST MORTGAGE SINKING FUND LAND-GRANT BONDS OF THE ST. JOSEPH AND DENVER CITY RAILROAD COMPANY,

IN DENOMINATIONS OF $1,000, $500, AND $100, can now be had from the undersigned or through the principal banks and bankers of the United States. The attention of investors is invited to the merits of these bonds, secured by a first and only mortgage on the road, equipments, franchises, and property of a trunk line of railroad which will shorten the distance between New-York and San Francisco some 230 miles, and in addition the mortgage to secure the bonds covers a land-grant of 1,500,000 acres of the most fertile land in the West, which is prohibited from being sold at less than four ($4) dollars per acre by the terms of the mortgage deed, and according to the present market price of the Illinois Central Company's lands is worth $18,750,000. This loan was originally for $5,500,000, but has been largely reduced by subscriptions of actual investors. The remaining balance of the loan is offered at 97½ and accrued interest, but the right is reserved to advance the price at any time, without notice.

The bonds have thirty years to run; bear 8 per cent. interest, payable in New-York, London or Frankfort-on-the-Main, at the option of the holder, without notice, free of taxes. BOTH PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST ARE PAYABLE IN GOLD. They are Coupon Bonds, but can be registered with the coupons on, or can be registered with the coupons off, and interest paid to registered owner. Interest payable Aug. 15 and Feb. 15. A liberal sinking fund, formed from the entire land sales, in payment for which the bonds will be received at par and accrued interest, provides for the early extinguishment of this loan.

Trustees—Farmers' Loan and Trust Company.

These bonds offer favorable inducements to parties desiring to fund their Five-Twenties, or other high-priced securities.

In converting Five-Twenties the investors realize 17 per cent. profit on the principal; 2 per cent. per annum excess of interest; and at the same time get a perfect security.

Maps, circulars, documents, and full information furnished on application.

Though acting as agents for the sale of this loan, our firm buy and sell in their regular business the bonds of the St. Joseph and Denver City Railroad Company, those of the Eastern Division being now quoted at 102 and accrued interest. These were originally placed by us at 97½.

☞ FIVE-TWENTIES CAN BE FUNDED with us into the best Railroad Bonds. We recommend those of the RONDOUT AND OSWEGO COMPANY for three reasons: 1. These Bonds are safe. The road is near this City. Every investor can travel over it for himself. The net earnings of one-half of the line pay at present 10 per cent. on all the bonds which will be issued on the whole road. 2. By conversion, as we recommend, the investor adds 25 per cent. to his capital. 3. He also adds 48 1-3 per cent. to his income. EDWARD HAIGHT & CO.,

NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

The people of Cardiff are indignant that an American vessel, stricken with cholera, should put into their port.

It is reported that after the recess the Orleans Princes intend to take seats in the French Assembly.

President THIERS has sent a message to the Assembly, in which he dismisses the members for needed rest, and promises to labor in their absence for the reorganization of the country. He also instructs the Deputies to inquire of their constituents whether they are in favor of a Monarchy or a Republic. The document was very coldly received.

The New-Jersey Democratic State Convention met yesterday at Trenton, Col. WILLIAM C. ALEXANDER presiding, and after one ballot nominated JOEL PARKER, of Monmouth, as candidate for Governor.

The great Doncaster St. Leger race came off yesterday afternoon, and was won by Baron ROTHSCHILD's filly Hannah, (the winner of the Oaks,) with Albert Victor second, and Ringwood third.

GENERAL.

The Attorney-General has decided that the Government has no right to a priority of payment as against private creditors of an insolvent national bank for moneys which the bank holds to the credit of the United States Treasurer, and that the Controller of the Currency has no authority to declare a dividend to the private creditors of a national bank before the claims of the United States are satisfied.

Two convicts in the State Prison at San Quentin, Cal., fought with knives on Tuesday, and one of them, named TRIM, received ten wounds, the blade entering his lungs.

The Illinois Episcopal Convention at Chicago amended their constitution on Tuesday, so that now a clergyman who shall resort to the civil Courts for the purpose of avoiding ecclesiastical proceedings will be suspended from the functions of the ministry.

The steamer Juniata, which went ashore on the Florida coast, on the 24th ult., arrived at Philadelphia yesterday morning, bringing nearly all the passengers and cargo she had on leaving Havana. Her damages are not severe.

The four-oared boat-race near Montreal was postponed yesterday on account of rough water.

Postmaster-General CRESWELL returned to Washington yesterday. Second Assistant Postmaster-General SMITH is expected there on the 25th instant from Minnesota.

A fire in GRAVES & BROWN'S rag and paper warehouse, Albany, yesterday, destroyed between $25,000 and $30,000 worth of property; insured for $15,000. A number of poor families lost nearly all their effects.

A burglar, hailing last from New-York City, has been arrested in Buffalo. On his person was found several gold watches, chains, lockets, and valuable rings. Among them a gold lead pencil, marked "MARY E. SEVERANCE," and a silver pin and ear-rings marked "W."

The widow of Dr. CONNOLLY, who murdered his two children in this City a few weeks ago, became suddenly insane on Tuesday, in the French Cathedral at Montreal, and created a sad scene of confusion by her outcries.

The Indian difficulties in Southern California have been compromised by the resignation of the Chief, MANUEL ITO, and the usurper, OLEGARIO, and the appointment of JOSE ANTONIO as sole Chief of the district tribes.

The National Executive Committee of the Union League of America, met yesterday at Philadelphia, Ex-Gov. WM. A. NEWELL, of New-Jersey, in the chair. A large amount of business of a private character was transacted, intended to aid the Republican Party in the elections soon to be held.

The Democrats of Massachusetts are to hold their State Convention at Springfield today. Last night they held a meeting, when decidedly new departure measures were advocated.

No Compromise.

The plan of lightening the Tammany ship by throwing a Jonah overboard seems to have met with some favor in the eyes of a few public journals, however mean and disgusting it may and will appear to the great body of the people. The Tribune thinks that if Mayor HALL persists in his present scheme he will find the "people at his back;" the Evening Post says that "Mayor HALL has fully committed himself to the people's side of the issue against the Controller." We venture to say that this is not the "people's" side by any means. The people have no war against the Controller as a man, but against a piece of machinery in which he is only a cog-wheel. What would be gained by offering up one or two men as a burnt sacrifice, and leaving the present Tammany organization in full force? What is CONNOLLY or TWEED but a part of Tammany? The "issue" is not so narrow as the Post represents. It is not the people against the Controller, but the people against Tammany—one man more or less is of little consequence in such a crisis as this. We all wish, or ought to wish, to break down an organization which has run the City two hundred millions of dollars in debt, which has mortgaged the real estate of the City twenty-six per cent., which has shown itself to be good only for one thing—and that is, to afford facilities for plundering the community without stint or hindrance. No single man has built up that system, and the removal of no one man can break it down. We have expressed our opinions pretty freely about Mr. CONNOLLY, and we are prepared to repeat those opinions again and again if need be. But we say that, in the present situation of affairs, he does quite right in refusing to resign. Why should he be saddled with all the odium which rightfully belongs to the clique of which he is only a member? What would the public gain by the extinction of CONNOLLY as a public officer, and the perpetuation of the system under which all the offenses charged against him have been rendered possible?

If any tax-payer is purblind enough to suppose that the burden on his shoulders can be reduced until the entire Tammany organization is swept away, his dullness is likely to be sufficiently punished. Tammany is the cause of our sufferings—and what is Tammany? Is it CONNOLLY alone, or TWEED, or SWEENY, or HALL? No—it is all these men put together, and the machinery which they have put in motion. The two most dangerous men in the conspiracy—because they are the most adroit and the most unscrupulous—are HALL and SWEENY. Can we say that CONNOLLY is dishonest without inculpating HALL, who backed him up in all his transactions, who undertook to vindicate him before the public, whose name appears with his on the face of the fraudulent warrants? If HALL signed those warrants innocently, is he not a fool who ought to be pushed out of office neck and shoulders, as a man utterly unfit for any public trust? When a merchant sees that he has been swindled by his clerk, he is not pacified by the assurance that the clerk did not understand what he was doing. He insists upon having some man in his employ who will understand what he is about. If any man of this gang ought to resign before another, it is HALL—HALL, who drew up the infamous Code Amendments, who issued the abominable 12th of July order, who thinks to stifle the public voice by bribing or gagging the Press, who has ever been the leading spirit in every conspiracy against the public. He has insulted the people much more bitterly than any of his colleagues. He it was who outraged the principles of liberty last July. Next to him in guilt comes SWEENY, the sneak of the gang, the cowardly knave who pockets his share of the money, and leaves others to bear all the responsibility. Are the people children, that they should be induced to place themselves afresh in the power of this designing swindler? Because CONNOLLY is thrown out, are they to go on trusting knaves who are much more artful and dangerous?

The papers which try to save two out of the Four, at the expense of the other two, totally misapprehend the drift of public opinion. The people want reform and relief, not base compromises. No paper can save any one of these men now, any more than it could keep back the Atlantic with a mop. A journal could easily crush itself in such an effort, for the blood of the people is up, and they will have a total change in the present vile rule, or no change at all. They want to see an honest Government, and they will never consent to a degrading bargain with the men who have robbed them. Are we reduced to so abject a plight as to be forced to agree to any terms which a gang of thieves impose upon us? Remember the grand outburst of popular indignation over HALL'S disgraceful proclamation of the 12th of July. The feeling then evoked is abroad now. It can be felt in the air. Newspapers cannot control it. It is founded on a just sense of wrong and oppression, and it will end in the total extermination of the clique to which we are indebted for long and intolerable ill-usage. CONNOLLY is nothing, but the system which has produced him is all in all. While it exists we can never be safe. Annihilate it, and this great City will once more be worthy of its place in the world, and command the respect not only of distant communities—for that is comparatively of small consequence—but of our countrymen and ourselves.

The Tax Commission and Nathaniel Sands.

The Evening Post has a contributor who has amused himself for some time past in furnishing that journal with rose-colored views of the workings of various Departments of the City Government. Last night he entertained his readers with a highly laudatory account of the present management of the Tax Commission, which winds up, as might be expected, by awarding the credit of most of the improvements alleged to have been introduced into that Department to NATHANIEL SANDS. In the organization of the Tax Office, he says, "no one has done more than Mr. SANDS, or been more resolutely earnest to make the Department thoroughly impartial." Mr. SANDS, as everybody knows, obtained his appointment as Tax Commissioner by a bargain with the Ring, in which he sold out the Citizens' Association, and received in return an office which CONNOLLY had pledged himself to give to another man. His "impartiality" in "organizing" the office consisted in giving two of the best appointments to his sons, and the "improvements" that have been made in it are shown in the fact that the cost of maintaining the Department is more than five times as great as that of the Commission which it superseded.

The Post does not appear to be altogether satisfied with the flattering account furnished by its contributor, and the editor proceeds to ask Mr. NATHANIEL SANDS some very impertinent questions. He wants to know, for instance, whether several sinecure place-holders, whom he mentions by name, are not attached to the Tax Commission, and do not draw monthly salaries for which they render no service; and whether Mr. SANDS does not sign the pay-roll, and give his monthly certificate that these men "have been actually engaged in the office, and have performed the services for which they claim payment." This is a subject which the Post's contributor forgot to say anything about, and it is certainly rather unkind in the editor to try and spoil the effect of his correspondent's picture by a series of interrogatories about matters which he doubtless regarded, when writing the article, as of trivial importance. If a contributor to a newspaper is not to be permitted to tell the truth without telling the whole truth, he might as well stop his contributions altogether, especially when his main object is to puff himself. And then for the Post to make fun of its contributor after this style! "Mr. SANDS is too prominent a man, and values his reputation too highly, to rest under such an imputation, if it is not true, and we sincerely trust that he will be able to disprove it." Having demonstrated in his bargain with the "Ring" that he "values his reputation" at just $10,000, (his salary as Tax Commissioner,) we submit that it is adding insult to injury for the Post to tell Mr. SANDS that he valued it "too highly." It may be true enough, but the truth is not always to be spoken. But what does the Post mean by this sentence? "Especially at this time, when many of our leading citizens are advocating his appointment as successor to Mr. CONNOLLY, it is desirable that every suspicion of fraudulent intercourse between the two offices be removed." We should like to see a few of the "leading citizens" who are advocating the appointment of SANDS as a successor to CONNOLLY. If CONNOLLY should ever vacate his office, of which there does not appear to be any immediate prospect, we hope the leading citizens who advocate NATHANIEL SANDS as his successor will have the kindness to parade themselves in front of the City Hall. New-York seems foreordained to be victimized by frauds and humbugs, but Heaven deliver us from the infliction of SANDS as Controller!

Italian Regeneration.

During the Franco-German war, we heard a good deal about a great Federation of the Latin races, which was to counteract the unmistakable supremacy which the Teuton had gained in Europe. France has never quite forgiven Italy for not rushing to her aid against the Germans, and the subsequent occupation of Rome in defense of the French "never," has not improved the relations of the two countries. The late diplomatic misunderstanding between the Cabinets of Rome and Versailles shows how little would be required to bring them to the verge of a critical dispute. French papers have lately teemed with violent attacks against the people of the Italian peninsula, and it is instructive to watch how keen a perception the French critics have of the same faults in others which they are exceedingly slow to detect in themselves. A Vienna journal replies, with some little acerbity, to the imputation of the Liberté that the Italians are a "decaying people." It says: "Does the Liberté know the evils from which Italy suffers? They are precisely the same as those which infest France itself—materialism and Roman ultra-clericalism. A country, however, whose eyes have been opened to the origin of the malady with which it is afflicted, has already made great progress in the path to convalescence."

It cannot be denied that it is high time that Italy recognized the exceedingly hollow character of its social and political organization. Extreme profligacy among the upper classes, and extreme superstition among the lower, is associated with appalling ignorance among both. The statistics of the military levies of three years show that among recruits of twenty-five years of age, there was 63.49 per cent. of illiterates. One year's return of civil marriages shows that out of a hundred persons who had signed the certificate of marriage, 69.46 had been unable to write their names. Of the marriages celebrated in 1869, it was found that in only one case out of six could both parties sign their names; that of the remainder, in one case out of five, the husband alone was able to write, and in one out of thirty-three the wife only; while out of the entire number not three-fifths of the total of certificates were signed by either party. Such facts amply bear out the statement that in a population of twenty-four millions of school age, there are seventeen millions of persons who can neither read nor write. Under such a state of things, social or political progress is out of the question. For the priest and the political fanatic there is abundant scope for the exercise of their influence in such a state of society; for the intelligent reformer and the friend of true liberty, the prospects are somewhat disheartening.

Italy must be reconstructed by the schoolmaster. Her politicians are hopelessly corrupt, and her representative system notoriously a sham. VICTOR EMMANUEL has more than once successfully appealed to universal suffrage, but the moment the popular vote has declared itself on some great question of national import, its agency is dispensed with. Out of a population of twenty-six millions, there are but half a million electors, and of this number less than one-half take any part in the elections. The Italian Kingdom is thus practically ruled by a voting population not larger than that of New-York and Brooklyn. Unfortunately, the men chosen by this select circle of electors are by no means the best men of the country. The Italian Parliament shares with the New-York Legislature the distinction of being a body into which respectable men of good standing are rather reluctant to enter. Great constitutional questions are unknown, and the manifold sections of Italian politics are personal factions rather than political parties. Legislation is looked upon chiefly as a great game of "grab," and unless a Ministry can afford to satisfy the demands of a crowd of hungry adherents, it must resign. The most trivial injuries to personal dignity, and the failure of the pettiest of jobs, are made valid excuses for deserting the men in power. "Sixty Ex-Ministers are to be found on the benches of the Italian Chambers," and there are a score or two of Deputies who share the undoubted belief of these fallen leaders that they are perfectly able to assume the control of public business when the opportunity presents itself. It is hardly to be wondered at if the state of the national finances perpetually verges upon bankruptcy, and that the prospect of getting rid of the inevitable annual deficit seems as far off as ever. The wonder is that Italian patriotism regards the future with hope, and continues to work with undismayed energy at the task of regenerating a noble and gifted people.

The Delights of Hombourg.

A strange complaint reaches us from the baths of Hombourg. At that famous resort there exist certain time-honored precedents. It is the rule for Muscovite grandees to come there, and either to lose hatsful of gold Napoleons and bushels of roubles, or to create a nine days' wonder by breaking the bank. It is the rule for particular dowagers to occupy particular places at the gaming tables, for Mme. PATTI to sing so many nights in the season at the opera, for old frequenters to be seen daily in given spots at given hours. It is likewise the rule that the chief sharpers or chevaliers of industry tolerated at the baths should be of Continental origin. These choice spirits have usually been English or French, with here and there an Italian or Spaniard, and now and then a scattering Greek. But their domain has been intruded upon, and bitter is the consequent outcry. American experts of superb abilities have crossed the sea. They are declared to outshine their European prototypes. They are more energetic, more plausible, more desperate. An experienced observer writes from Hombourg: "If an examination in villainy could be conducted, I am confident that the highest prize would fall to a proficient who had learned his lesson and practiced his trade in New-York." The lamentations of the rascals whose fields are thus invaded are, perhaps, the most irrefragable proofs o the eminence of our accomplished countrymen; it is, moreover, highly gratifying to be assured that during this season, in all the exquisite coups that characterize the swindler of the first-water, these gentlemen have carried off the palm.

The attractions of this fresh arena for enterprise are undeniable. What with Emperors and Archduchesses, successful Generals, famous scholars and clever diplomatists, with the finest artists from the great capitals, and with lovely women from all over Europe, the society of the place is distinguished in a high degree, and the diversions of which the stranger is invited to partake, if not always wholesome, are invariably fascinating. As regards the gaming tables, although most people lose, some people win; and our ingenious friends have sagaciously confined their attentions, it appears, to the latter class. A nobleman who lately won a vast sum of the bank was soon after kindly relieved through initiation into the mysteries of "poker;" and an operator well known in the financial circles of Berlin has been victimized to a handsome tune at the same classic game. Comfortable certainties of this sort are more sought after than "fighting the tiger" at the public tables. The relation of these adventures recalls the fact that fifteen or twenty years ago, gentlemen of this class found scope for the exercise of their peculiar talents in California. They flourished in great style at San Francisco, and until the Vigilance Committee drove them away, they for a time actually ruled the city. Those halcyon days have passed and are unlikely to return; and this furnishes a probable explanation of the sudden outburst of talent in the same line at Hombourg. Why, when so much ready cash is flying about, and so many people flock to a place with the purpose, secret or avowed, to gamble, should not such adroit practitioners be at hand to reap the golden harvest? Such is the question they have no doubt asked themselves, and the accounts recorded show how satisfactorily it has been answered.

Those accounts likewise give rise to another suggestion. Europe has sent hither so many jail-birds, pickpockets, and other scoundrels, that we do not think the proposition objectionable on the score of international comity. A large number of persons of a similar class will presently be newly set adrift on our community. The overthrow of their friends and employers of the "Ring" will leave these men without employment, and, as so many of them have been cleaned out of late in Wall-street, without much money. These fellows are precisely of the class, and we believe some of them are the identical individuals, who were driven from San Francisco by the Vigilance Committee. Let them pack up, bag and baggage, and make for the baths of Hombourg. It will be diamond cut diamond, to be sure, but they have had much plunder at the expenditure of very little wit for a long time, and ought now to be willing to exert themselves. Contrary to statements freely circulated, the gaming tables of Hombourg do not close until the end of 1872, and perhaps when the German Emperor sees how estimable a set of worthies they have enticed into his dominions, he will give the green cloth a longer respite. San Francisco is no longer available for their trade, and the best resource for those numerous true believers in the "Ring," who call themselves the "sporting" fraternity, is to seek a new Mecca in Hombourg.

Democratic Convention in New-Jersey.

Ex-Gov. JOEL PARKER was yesterday nominated by the Democratic Convention of New-Jersey on a platform which addresses itself more than any yet adopted in other States to issues of State policy. In the selection of their candidate, and in this portion of their platform, the Democrats have shown wisdom. In the resolutions regarding national issues, however, they are among the most stupid of the stupid. Concerning the recent amendments their language is couched in a double sense. It is as follows:

"The Democratic Party in the present, as in the past, recognize the Constitution and the amendments thereto as the organic law of the country, and not as open political questions of the day."

"In the past," a very short way, the Democratic Party denounced the amendments to the Constitution as "revolutionary and void," and if the principles laid down by them in 1868 had been accepted by the people, the amendments would now be worth no more than the paper on which they are printed. The people are sick and tired of this half-way acceptance of the organic law. It would have been perfectly easy to have spoken in a way that could not have been mistaken. The New-Jersey Democrats should have borrowed the words of the Louisville Courier-Journal: "There is a fixed determination on the part of the majority of the people of this country that they will not only require a recognition of the last three amendments to the Constitution as de facto laws, but that, so long as there is any question about their validity, they will not permit the control of public affairs to pass from the party which is pledged to their permanent maintenance."

Mr. WALSH is clearly the winning candidate.

MINOR TOPICS.

The Democratic Press of the State has slowly awakened to the fact that Tammany must be repudiated, or that the utter ruin of the party will occur. Even the Albany Argus not only tacitly admits the guilt of the Tammany leaders, but joins with the most ardent of reformers in demanding that they should "be prosecuted and compelled to make restoration." Rochester and Buffalo papers echo the wail about "corruption in the party," and advocate, more or less pointedly, the throwing overboard of Tammany by the State Convention. It is quite possible that Tammany may exhibit the same disinclination to be made the scapegoat of the party as CONNOLLY has done in New-York. The Democrats who sent men to the Legislature who implicity obeyed the bidding of TWEED will, moreover, find their task only begun when they have repudiated the City Ring and all its works.

Col. RUSTOW, formerly in the Prussian service, has just printed a new book, called the War for the Rhine Frontier, which will cause much comment. The view taken of the causes of French discomfiture differs much from the view usually accepted. Col. RUSTOW, while admitting the superior discipline and handling of the Prussians, declares that numerical discrepancy had more to do with the result than has been supposed. At the outset, on this authority, Germany mustered in field troops five hundred and eighteen thousand men, with 1,506 guns, while France had but two hundred and eighty-five thousand men, with 984 guns. Germany had 161,000 reserves, as against the 91,000 of France. As garrison troops, again, Germany had 187,000 men, for which France had no equivalent, as the Garde Mobile was not organized. At Wissembourg, says Col. RUSTOW, the Germans had twenty thousand men engaged, while DOUAY'S opposing division was only eight thousand strong; and the French, while completely surprised, fought three hours, and only lost one gun. At Woerth, MCMAHON had only thirty-five thousand men engaged, while "the German troops who really came into action were seventy-five thousand infantry and cavalry." The numbers at Vionville were nearly equal, and the battle was "drawn," since both parties bivouacked on the field. At Gravellotte, the Germans had "at least two hundred thousand," against half that number of their opponents, &c. We do not know whether Col. RUSTOW'S figures can be substantiated; but his main object, which appears to be that of gratifying French national vanity, is quite certain to be accomplished.

The Tribune is doing its best to serve two masters. It would be less bewildering, however, to the honest portion of its readers if it refrained from blowing hot and cold on the same page and on the same day. In its editorial columns of yesterday, the Mayor was assured that in the event of his exercising, in the case of CONNOLLY, the power of removal which he claimed to possess over all local officers, he would "find the City at his back." It is hardly worth while to dispute the correctness of this assumption, since, in another article, the Tribune breaks out in this strain: "Happy for the Metropolis and this City will be the day when that RING shall be broken and each and all of its component parts divested of that power which has been so villainously abused." How the Mayor, whom the Tribune expressly asserts to be a very essential part of the Ring, is to be divested of his power, and yet is to have the City at his back, is a problem which we leave to the omniscient Tribune for solution. Its success in reconciling allegiance to Tammany with fidelity to the Republican Party, encourages us to hope for the most satisfactory reply.

It is well established that open-air hospitals are the best for diseases like small-pox. Perhaps it was their appreciation of this fact that induced some benevolent people of Cadiz, Ohio, to remove a stranger stricken with that disease from one of their hotels, sew him in a blanket, carry him out of the town to an old house without doors, windows or roofs, and leave him there with an old negro to wait on him. Their experiment, if this was its motive, failed, for the man died. And we are at a loss to account on any theory of modern medicine for the subsequent action of these volunteer nurses, for they shot at their neighbors who essayed to bury the corpse, and told the poor old negro that if he did not leave town they would shoot him. He left, and the guardians of the health of Cadiz have resumed the even tenor of their way.

Is Mr. PENDLETON for the new departure or against it? He says the Democratic Party will "enforce obedience to the Constitution and to the Amendments," but when pressed by the Southern Bourbons, and the Western new departure men, to say whether he regards the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments as really "amendments" or not, he preserves a solemn and significant silence. This fact is taken advantage of by both sections of the Democracy, and Mr. PENDLETON must enjoy seeing himself quoted as authority on both sides. He has the same privilege, also, with reference to the financial question, and while the friends of TOM EWING are classing him—justly, we think—as in favor of that gentleman's Roorback currency scheme, and the repudiation of the United States bonds, some of the Illinois Democrats claim to find him sound on specie payments. It is only the scarcity of decent men in the Democratic Party that gives to such double-faced pretenders as Mr. PENDLETON positions of prominence.

Recent disastrous collisions have led to a fresh discussion of the "Rule of the Road at Sea." That there exists a possibility of misunderstanding, or opposite construction, in present usage has been shown by many sad events. Various plans have been suggested, by way of improvement or modification, but the best of these plans seem open to objection. What is known as Sir JOHN HAY'S rule has been of late much praised, but even in that, anomalies can readily be pointed out. For instance, by this rule, a sailing-ship on the port tack is to give way to a sailing-ship on the starboard tack. Also, by the Rule, a sailing-ship with the wind free shall give way to a sailing-ship close hauled. Now, it is pertinently asked, what is to be done if a sailing-ship on the starboard tack with the wind free meets a sailing-ship close hauled on the port tack? Clearly, by the first rule, the ship on the port tack ought to give way; as clearly, the ship on the starboard tack should do so.—We hope this is quite clear to our readers.

The reform demonstration of the independent voters of the Twenty-first Ward, yesterday evening, brought out a good speech from Ex-Judge BARRETT, and a vigorous and characteristic address from Hon. R. B. ROOSEVELT. We commend to the notice of the Tribune the outspoken Democratic denunciation indulged in yesterday evening against the man whom that journal wants to see with "the City at his back." Honest men of both parties, will cordially second the resolutions of the Twenty-first Warders, calling upon Gov. HOFFMAN to suspend from office Messrs. HALL, CONNOLLY, TWEED and SWEENY, pending an official investigation into the alleged charges, and if found guilty, to punish them "to the utmost extent of the law."

The first comedy of importance produced in Paris since the late war has just been brought about at the Gymnase. "Marceline" is the name of the piece, it is in four acts, and the author is M. DE LA ROUNAT, once manager of the Odeon. We infer that the playwright has no great hopes that the taste of his countrymen has been chastened or purified by misfortune, since the heroine of his play, and the chief centre of its action, is a young girl who is represented to have been brought up, from the age of twelve, by a bad man, one Murmont, a capitalist, for the vilest of conceivable purposes. This choice conception is quite in the old vein and will doubtless assure the success of "Marceline," which is said somewhat to resemble "Fernande," and to afford fine opportunities for acting that are well employed by the personator of the heroine, Mme. DESCLEE.

Mr. NAST puts his ideas of the situation of the Tammany leaders into very forcible pictures this week. His main cartoon "A Group of Vultures Waiting for the Storm to Blow Over—'Let us Prey,'" is one of his most telling works, and in "What the German Democrats have Done About It," he shows in a form that everybody will understand the fact that they have pitched the Four overboard.

IMPORTANT RAILROAD CASE.

The Proposed Lease of the United Companies of New-Jersey—A Hearing in the Court of Chancery.

The hearing in the injunction against the lease of the Camden and Amboy Railroad and Transportation Company, and the Delaware and Raritan Canal Company, and the New-Jersey Railroad and Transportation Company to the Pennsylvania Railroad, was begun in the Court of Chancery of New-Jersey, at Trenton, on Tuesday. The following are the counsel engaged: Hon. Jeremiah S. Black, Hon. J. Browning, V. L. Bradford, Garret S. Cannon, E. L. Voorhees, against the lease. Hon. Courtlandt Parker, Hon. J. P. Stockton, Hon. F. T. Frelinghuysen, Ex-Chancellor Williamson, Jacob Vanata, I. W. Scudder and A. I. Fish, of Philadelphia; E. T. Green, Mr. Theodore Cuyler, general counsel, and Mr. Chapman Biddle and Mr. Howard, solicitors of the Pennsylvania Railroad, for the lease. Attorney-General Gilchrist appeared for the State. At the request of the Governor, Mr. VINCENT L. BRADFORD addressed the Court against the lease. From the report of his remarks given by the Trenton State Gazette we take the following points submitted by him:

1. That the before-mentioned Companies of New-Jersey, sometimes termed the "United Companies of New-Jersey," severally or collectively, prior to March 17, 1870, did not possess any franchise or power to make or execute any lease of their canals and railroads, with their appurtenances, and of all their property and interests, real, personal and mixed, for the purposes and objects contemplated in said lease.

2. That they now, and any time subsequent to March 16, 1870, do not possess any franchise or power, severally or collectively, to make and execute the lease referred to in the bill or any similar lease.

3. The lessee named in the said lease (the Pennsylvania Railroad Company) does not possess any power or franchise to become lessee in the said lease.

4. The said lease or any similar lease is a violation of the Constitution of the State of New-Jersey.

5. The said lease or any similar lease will, if executed and carried into effect, be contrary to equity and good conscience, and tend to the manifest wrong and injury of the complainants.

6. The complainants, by reason of such manifest wrong and injury, are without adequate remedy other than the protection by the preventive writ of injunction, prayed for in the said bill, and are, under and by virtue of the Constitution of the United States, the Constitution of the State of New-Jersey and the laws of New-Jersey, entitled to the protection afforded by said writ of injunction.

OUR GOVERNING FAMILIES.

It is almost impossible to ascertain with precision who are actually in the employment of the City Government, but we have discovered some facts on the subject which are likely to be of public interest. We regret that we cannot present the family trees of our governing families, with their branches quite complete. Legislation at Albany is absolutely controlled by the Ring here. Legislation in the new Common Council, which was to be so elevated a body under the new charter, is such as to render it very difficult to ascertain who are getting pay from the City, how much they are getting, and for what pretended service it is drawn. We must be excused if we fail to present the names of some individuals belonging to the distinguished families so honored by a grateful public, with their titles and emoluments. We make our apology to such members of these governing families as we have unfortunately omitted from their proper places. If the rolls are imperfect, we can, at least, plead that we have done our best to supply the deficiency, and we tender to a grateful people some knowledge of the gentlemen they are allowed the privilege of supporting in luxurious elegance.

THE HOFFMANS.

CHARLES O. JOLINE, brother-in-law, or some other near relative of the Governor, Chief Clerk in the office of the Mayor; originally appointed by John T. Hoffman when Mayor; salary or other advantages, $5,500.

H. STARKWEATHER, father-in-law of his Excellency the Governor, Collector of Assessments; appointed by the Controller when Hoffman was Mayor. The fees of this office it is difficult to ascertain. They are supposed to be from $20,000 to $30,000 per annum to each of the officers, and depend much on the number of street-openings, street-widenings, park-openings, &c., that are put through.

THE SWEENYS.

PETER BARR SWEENY. Ex-Chamberlain, and Ex-Erie Director. 1. President of the Department of Public Parks. Appointed by himself, but apparently appointed by his Honor Mayor Hall. 2. Director of the Tenth National Bank, in which City funds are kept. 3. A chief owner in the New-York Printing Company—a corporation that is eating up the smaller printing establishments of the City, and prints the Transcript. 4. A Director in the Brooklyn Bridge Company, which has about four or five millions of the funds of the two cities to expend. 5. Corporator in the new Viaduct Road, &c., &c., &c. All the profits that arise from being a near relative of various largely-paid public officials, from being the engineer of legislation at Albany and New-York, and director of the Controller's and other departments of the City.

JOHN J. BRADLEY, brother-in-law of Peter B. Sweeny. 1. Keeper of a livery-stable corner of Fourth-avenue and Eighteenth-street. 2. Renter of the upper story for one of the City Courts, at of course a very moderate rent. 3. Chamberlain of the City. Appointed by the Mayor under the Tax Levy and new charter. The emoluments of this office are moderately estimated $150,000 per annum; the State pays him over $40,000 per annum as County Treasurer for sending a check to Albany. Are the country folks aware of this? 4. County Treasurer. 5. State Senator. In addition to pay of State Senator this official is enabled to fight off all attacks upon the revenue of his various offices. 6. Commissioner of the Sinking Fund; salary supposed to be $1,000 per annum. 7. Recipient under the last Tax Levy of the sum of $16,583 33 as President of the Croton Board, which office he really never held, but was simply a contestant for it, and never performed a day's duty for it in his life. Appointed to this place by brother-in-law Peter Barr Sweeny, acting as Tax Levy manufacturer at Albany, he using Hall to that end.

GEORGE T. BRADLEY, supposed brother or nephew of John J. Bradley, Second Auditor of Accounts in Controller's Office; appointed by Controller Connolly. Again taking up the Sweenys in direct line, we have:

FORBES HOLLAND, Commissioner of Markets.

Brother JAMES M. SWEENY: 1. Clerk of the Supreme Court, in which Judge McCunn has a prominent place; appointed by the Superior Court. 2. Deputy City Chamberlain, with Brother-in-law Bradley; appointed by Brother-in-law Bradley. 3. Commissioner of Riverside Park Opening and street openings generally; appointed by Supreme Court, Barnard-Cardozo. 4. Convenient and useful for all places that Brother Peter wants somebody to fill, that he is not at the moment prepared to fill with anybody else; appointed by Peter Barr Sweeny.

It is quite impracticable to state in this case, as in Bradley's, what portion of the fees and emoluments James pays to Peter.

WM. A. HERRING, brother-in-law of Hon. Peter Barr Sweeny, Auditor of Accounts in Controller's Office, appointed by R. B. Connolly, Controller of the City of New-York; $6,000.

THOMAS J. BARR, uncle of Hon. Peter Barr Sweeny. 1. Commissioner of Street Openings; appointed by McCuun, Cardozo, Barnard. Each citizen is at liberty in this, as in other cases, to estimate the fees for himself, not for Uncle Barr. 2. Receiver of the Bininger and other estates. 3. Police Commissioner, salary $15,000; appointed by P. B. Sweeny throug Hall. 4. Ex-Horse Inspector under United States Government.

And here we leave the Sweenys, the lesser Sweenys, Barrs, Bradleys and Herrings, and their collaterals.

THE TWEEDS.

Hon. WILLIAM M. TWEED. 1. Commissioner of Public Works; appointed by Mayor Hall; salary, $7,500. 2. Ex-Supervisor, and as such the builder of the new City Hall. 3. Director of Brooklyn Bridge. 4. Director of the Erie Railroad. 5. Promoter of Hoosac Tunnel. 6. Director and owner in New-York Printing Company; for particulars see above, (Sweenys.) 7. Director Tenth National Bank; for particulars see above, (Sweenys.) 8. Corporator in new Viaduct Railroad.

RICHARD TWEED, brother of Wm. M Tweed; Assessor, appointed by Hon. R. B. Connolly; fees, say equal to Starkweather.

WM. H. KING, brother-in-law of Wm. M. Tweed; Tax Commissioner; appointed by Hon. R. B. Connolly; salary, $10,000.

WM. H. KING, Jr., nephew of Wm. M. Tweed; Deputy Commissioner of Department

Staff; appointed by his Excellency John T. Hoffman.

ALFRED TWEED, son of Wm. M. Tweed; Clerk in District Court; appointed by his father, or late Board of Supervisors.

THE CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION FAMILY.

This list is complete, and comprehends, it is believed, all the members of the tribe:

NATHANIEL SANDS, Tax Commissioner and member Board of Education; salary, $10,000.

—— SANDS, son of Nathaniel Sands, Tax Office; salary, $7,500 (?).

—— SANDS, son of Nathaniel Sands; salary, $5,000 (?).

—— HENRY, Commissioner of Docks; salary, $5,000.

JOSEPH F. DALY, Judge of Court of Common Pleas; salary, $15,000.

THE CONNOLLYS.

RICHARD B. CONNOLLY, alias Slippery Dick, no relative, it is believed to Sweeny—ex-clerk in a bank three or four years ago at a salary of about $1,800. 1. Controller of the City of New-York. The election of this officer was taken from the people by the last Tax Levy, and the appointment given to the Mayor, and Connolly duly appointed by Mayor Hall; $7,500. 2. Commissioner of the Sinking Fund; $1,000. No other fees, allowances or advantages whatever; but, living with great economy, he has, out of his salary, presented his son, and perhaps his distinguished son-in-law, each with a fine house within the past year, and has erected a magnificent mansion for himself on Park-avenue.

J. TOWNSEND CONNOLLY, son of Hon. R. B. Connolly, Controller, &c. 1. Auditor of the accounts which are to be paid by his honorable father, appointed by his honorable father; $6,000 per annum. 2. Commissioner on Street Openings, appointed by Supreme Court; fees too numerous to mention.

JOEL A. FITHIAN, son-in-law of Hon. R. B. Connolly, Controller, &c., &c. 1. Assistant Receiver of Taxes, appointed by the man that his honorable father-in-law appointed—$6,000. 2. Commissioner on Street Openings. 3. Commissioner on Broadway Widening; fees large but unknown.

At this point we leave the lesser CONNOLLYS, though it is but just to include Mr. RICHARD C. BEAMISH, who is said to be a nephew of CONNOLLY, and who has got some office.

THE SMITHS.

HUGH SMITH, Ex-Dock Commissioner; appointed by Mayor Hall.

—— SMITH, brother of Hugh, Dock Commissioner; appointed by Mayor Hall, salary $5,000.

—— SMITH, nephew of Hugh, in Hon. Peter B. Sweeny's office; has the task of collecting the arrears of personal taxes; fees.

BRADYS.

JOHN R. BRADY, Judge Supreme Court in place of Thos. W. Clerk; salary, $15,000.

CHARLES P. DALY, brother-in-law of Brady; Judge of Common Pleas; salary, $15,000.

NATHANIEL JARVIS, Jr., brother-in-law of Brady; Clerk of Court of Common Pleas; salary, $——.

THADDEUS H. LANE, brother-in-law of Brady; Judge of Sixth District Court; salary, $10,000.

HILTONS.

HENRY HILTON, Commissioner of Department of Public Parks; salary, $10,000. President of Viaduct Railroad; salary, ——. (Son) HILTON, Clerk in Department of Public Parks; salary, ——.

(Brother) HILTON, Park Police Doctor, an office created by the Department of Public Parks, never existed under Commissioners of Central Park; salary, ——.

The facts cannot be ascertained in the cases where we have left the amount of salary blank. The exhibit, however, is a pretty good one as it stands. Ought we not to be proud of our rulers?

A Responsible Government Wanted.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Mr. CONNOLLY will not resign. Mr. HALL knew he would not; and you have another dead-lock in the City Government. For, the Mayor will now say that he is not responsible; that the charter gives him no power, and so on.

The Mayor, however, will not tell you that he and the other "Ring" leaders made the charter, and that the provisions which now cause a dead-lock, and appear to make the Mayor a helpless innocent, were ingeniously contrived for the very purpose of cheating the people out of a responsible Government.

If the present charter made the Mayor responsible for his subordinates, and gave him the appointment of the administrative officers, for his own term, and the power to remove them at will, your exposures would have before this ousted not merely CONNOLLY, but also TWEED, SWEENY, and a number of others; and there would have been no occasion for such a Burdell-baby contrivance as the stealing of the vouchers from the Controller's office.

The present excitement shows the power of public opinion, directed upon one man. Mayor HALL cannot stand up against it. But the charter gives him a convenient excuse, because it does not give him the power to remove, summarily, CONNOLLY, or TWEED, or SWEENY.

As the defects of the charter become apparent, it is well to note them, so that when a new one is made, the City shall not once more be put in bondage by the ingenuity of politicians. CHARLES NORDHOFF.

A Card.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In your article of the 12th inst., headed, "Tammany Republican Office-holders," my name appears in the list. I hold no place, directly or indirectly, in any of the Municipal or State Departments. J. E. MCVEANY.

NEW-YORK, Wednesday, Sept. 13, 1871.

Political Brevities.

The Germans of the Twenty-second Ward held a meeting last evening, at Wendel's Hall, No. 450 Forty-fifth-street, when the action of the Cooper Institute citizens' meeting, and of the German General Committee, in reference to the corruption in the City Government, was fully indorsed.

The Suffolk County Convention, to elect four delegates to the Republican State Convention, was held at Riverhead yesterday, when STEPHEN B. FRENCH, JOHN MARCY, GEORGE HUBBARD and JOHN ROBBINS were elected delegates. Resolutions were unanimously passed indorsing the State Committee in reorganizing the party in New-York City, and instructing the delegates to sustain the action of State Committee at the State Convention at Syracuse.

The John J. Bradley Association of the Eighteenth Ward last night adopted resolutions tendering to JOHN J. BRADLEY their congratulations upon his safe return from his tour, and praising his nomination for Senator from the Seventh Senatorial District.

Gen. MERRITT's course as a member of the State Committee, in opposing the reorganization of the Republican machinery in this City, does not seem to meet with the approval of the Republicans of St. Lawrence County, if we may judge from the election of an anti-Merritt delegation to the State Convention from the General's own Assembly district, consisting of CALVIN T. HULBURD, E. D. BROOKS, WM. BRADFORD and H. B. WHITE.

The election in Colorado, Tuesday, went Republican by an increased majority. The Legislature is almost unanimously Republican.

The Seventh and Fifth Assembly District Union Republican Associations held meetings last evening, and enrolled many new members.

POLITICAL.

THE NEW-JERSEY DEMOCRATS.

State Convention at Trenton—Nomination of Joel Parker as Candidate for Governor—Platform of the State Democratic Party.

From Our Special Correspondent.

The battles of Gubernatorial nominations are generally fought the evening before the Convention, and the Democratic meeting at Trenton was no exception to this rule. The town was crowded with delegates and their friends, and the canvassing was general. In all the hotels the chances of the nominees, avowed and possible, were freely canvassed. The battle seemed to be between Judge BEDLE, of the Supreme Court, of Jersey City; Gen. HAIGHT, a lawyer, of Freehold, who has served two terms in Congress, and the wealthy NEHEMIAH PERRY, of Newark, who defeated Ex-Gov. PENNINGTON for Congress some years ago. There were numerous rumors floating about Trenton as to the amount of money Mr. PERRY was willing to spend in the campaign, and it was conceded that the moneyed strength of New-Jersey Democrats was with him. PERRY was formerly a master-tailor, and has lately been a speculator capitalist, with a good record socially, but considered very tricky in politics. Judge BEDLE among unbiassed men was thought the stronger, and it was conceded that he would make a good fight against WALSH. But the great subject of dispute which sooner or later was dragged into every conversation was whether JOEL PARKER had or had not refused to be a candidate, but upon this point no satisfactory conclusion could be arrived at.

The Convention met at 12 o'clock, in the Trenton Opera-house, where the Republican Convention was held last week. There were 835 delegates present, the majority of whom were honest-looking men, though the delegate from Hudson had the specially brutal appearance which is best designated by the term "hard." The numerous friends who filled the gallery were pretty much of the same order. The business of the Convention was opened by Hon. SAMUEL C. FORKER, of Monmouth County, member of Congress, who, without any preliminary address, called the delegation to order, and requested the nomination of temporary officers. Mr. WM. C. ALEXANDER, of Mercer County, was appointed temporary Chairman, and a numerous staff from various counties enjoyed the honor of being temporary Secretaries. The usual Committees on Rules and Regulations, on Organization and on Resolutions were appointed, and the Convention adjourned until 2 in the afternoon.

During the recess the delegates and their friends were apparently busy as bees, bustling about up-stairs and down-stairs, crowding in front of the bar counter and emptying bottles of champagne in the County Committee-rooms. But all this feverish turmoil and agitation did not result from any real activity, since everybody seemed to be convinced that JOEL PARKER was the man.

When order was called and the proceedings resumed, every man was in his place. The Committee on Organization reported through their Chairman, nominating WM. C. ALEXANDER for Chairman, who was appointed without a dissenting voice. He made a short address, in which he plainly stated that there was to be no new departure, but that the old principles of Democracy would be maintained in all their ancient splendor. Afterward were nominated the usual lengthy list of Vice-Présidents and Secretaries. Then the nomination for Governor was commenced, each county giving its preference. Atlantic County led off with a refusal to nominate. Bergen County led off for JOSEPH D. BEDLE, and the Hudsonites cheered with wild yells. Essex nominated RUNYON, PERRY, BEDLE and JOEL PARKER. Hudson nominated the same, with LEON ABBETT; Mercer the same with the additions of CHAS. HAIGHT and Judge NARR. Monmouth went for CHAS. HAIGHT, and the Chairman of the county delegates made a quiet little speech in his support, recalling with some eloquence his political record. Salem County gave a complimentary vote to ISAAC B. DICKINSON, but that gentleman at once refused the nomination, and gave it to BENJ. F. LEE. Sussex went for JOEL PARKER. Warren nominated SITGREAVES.

When the nominations had been concluded, a gentleman from Monmouth read a letter from JOEL PARKER, refusing at some length to accept any nomination unless the extraordinary fact should transpire that all declined, when such a marked honor would perhaps make him change his determination. The reason he assigned for this course was his private circumstances, which did not permit him to resign his practice. At the conclusion of the letter the assembly gave three cheers for JOEL PARKER, with a tremendous vim. The gentleman who read the letter then stated that Mr. PARKER had expressed a desire for Gen. HAIGHT's nomination, which was declared out of order. The balloting then commenced, but the result was never known, for during the first balloting Gen. PERRY withdrew his name, and a Mr. DAGGETT HUNT, from Union, rose to say that the delegates from his county would not construe JOEL PARKER's letter into a refusal, and that they held him far above every other man. Here tremendous cheers interrrupted the speaker's oratory, and it was plain that the hearts of the multitude were clearly with him. The speaker continued with great vehemence that the nomination of PARKER would be itself a harbinger of victory, but that without him CORNELIUS WALSH could not be defeated. A Mr. ORESTES CLEVELAND, from Hudson County, shortly afterward proclaimed for LEON ABBETT that he declined the nomination in favor of JOEL PARKER, which again brought forth a storm of cheers. Immediately Babel arose, and delegates shouted to change their votes in every possible direction. When order was partially restored, Gloucester County changed for JOEL PARKER, and was followed by the other counties, with few exceptions, and at last a member made a motion that the election of Mr. PARKER be made unanimous. This was seconded and unanimously adopted. A committee of seven was then appointed to acquaint him with the result, and another to request LEON ABBETT, NEHEMIAH PERRY and Gen. HAIGHT to address the meeting.

The Committee on Resolutions then reported the following platform:

The representatives of the Democratic Party of the State of New-Jersey, in Convention assembled, appealing to the intelligence of the State for a continued support of its principles and its candidates, point to these facts: They have urged the adoption of a system of general laws, under which capital and labor may find full and equal protection, and healthful competition take the place of enterprises born of special legislation and maintained by corruption. They have maintained the unsullied reputation of the State as to judicial appointments, and in all their appointments, executive and legislative, have given honest and capable officers to the people. They have maintained the dignity of the State and the constitutional rights and privileges of all its inhabitants, irrespective of nationality, religious faith or political creed. They have largely increased the Sinking Fund of the State, and added to the general funds, so that the assets are now more than sufficient to pay all the obligations of the State of every description. They show an amount equal to over $1,000,000 collected and bonded under the execution of the Riparian laws. They have collected nearly $300,000 from the United States Government since last Governor proclaimed that the accounts between this State and the General Government were substantially settled. The amounts thus saved and collected have been nearly enough to pay all the ordinary expenses of the State Government since it came into Democratic hands. They have maintained the credit of the State by judicious economy, and its obligations stand second to none—Federal or State—in commercial value. The Democracy of New-Jersey are proud of this record of their administration, and challenge a comparison of it with that of any Republican State in the Union. On the great Federal questions we declare that we favor a prompt and complete amnesty of all persons for political offenses. That we favor the raising of a revenue for the economical support of the Government and the payment of the principal and interest of the national debt, and so far as such revenue is raised from the tariff, it is to be upon the principle of taxation upon luxuries and the abolishment of taxes upon the necessaries of life. That the Democratic Party recognize the laboring element of the country as the true source of national wealth and strength, between which and capital no antagonism can exist, so long as the rights and dignity of labor are properly recognized; and there is no duty the party owes to the country, or to itself, superior to the full protection of the laboring interests. That, denouncing all conspiracies against law and good order, the Democratic Party recognize the extraordinary grant of military power given by the late Congress to the President, and declare the same to be most dangerrus in precedent and unnecessary in fact. That the Democratic Party in the present, as in the past, recognize the Constitution and the amendments thereto as the organic law of the country, and not as open political questions of the day. We believe that the Government of the United States is, as it ought to be, a Government of limited powers; that these powers are prescribed and enumerated in the Constitution of the United States; which Government is founded upon its adoption by the people, and creating direct relations between it and all its subjects. It is not a supreme, unlimited, imperial, consolidated government; but that it has its distinct and recognized sphere of action already ample; the Governments of the separate States have their distinct and recognized sphere of action; and that it is to the last degree important to the preservation of local independence, to the universal diffusion of political vitality, to the prevention of military despotism, to the security of individual rights, and the perpetuity of our institutions, that these separate spheres of action should be kept forever distinct and inviolable.

Resolved, That we regard the creation of Commissions by the Legislature for the regulation and government of municipal corporations as hostile to the principles of self-government.

Resolved, That we recommend to the Democrats of the several townships and wards of New-Jersey, the rigid enforcement of the late law passed by the Legislature of this State, prohibiting the use of money at elections, and enforcing the punishment of all offenders.

Resolved, That the executive administration of Gov. RANDOLPH commends itself to the cordial indorsement of the party and of the State, and we tender to him the commendation due to the public servant who has fully and faithfully discharged the duties of his office.

After the adoption of these resolutions, Gen. CHARLES HAIGHT, not unfrequently called "Champagne Charlie," stepped upon the platform, and in a long speech heartily indorsed the nomination of JOEL PARKER, promising to take off his coat and work for him. He spoke in favor of the new departure as expressed in the resolutions, which, to the great astonishment of everybody, had been exactly opposed to the Chairman's opening speech. Mr. LEM. ABBETT and NEHEMIAH PERRY then made short addresses, pledging their best services in the coming canvass.

The Democratic State Convention To-morrow—Hopes and Aspirations of its Members—Probable Platform and Action.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Sept. 13.—The Democrats of this State hold their nominating Convention here to-morrow, and thus formally open what will undoubtedly prove to be a most exciting and important Gubernatorial compaign. The Convention will probably be an unusually large and cheerful gathering, its members being confident that valuable capital can be made out of the tangle in which the Republicans seem to be with a multiplicity of candidates, some of the more enthusiastic going so far as to declare their unbounded faith in the election of a Democratic Governor by a respectable and unmistakable majority.

The "Young Democracy" hope to control the Convention, and make it place the new departure plank very prominently in its platform, and to this end they have been for some weeks, and are still zealously working. Those who seem to have the inside position among the arrangers state that the platform will subscribe to the amendments to the Constitution; demand reform of the present prohibitory tariff and our system of revenue; call for the reduction and equalization of taxes; the reform of the civil service; no more land grants to railroad or other corporations; the prohibition of Executive interference in the affairs of the States, and universal amnesty.

The Convention will probably nominate Hon. JOHN QUINCY ADAMS for Governor, who has had the supreme good nature to act before as the figure-head of the Democracy of the State when defeat was certain, though there are some prominent delegates who are working to secure the nomination of Judge ABBOTT. The remainder of last year's ticket is most likely to be renominated, with the exception of Lieutenant-Governor.

But more important and momentous to many of the prominent Democrats of the State than the nomination of Governor, will be the choice of delegates at large to the National Convention. Over this there may be a lively squabble. The positions are desired because it is thought they are places of honor and prominence, but more especially because they are supposed to afford a chance of preference in the distribution of offices in the improbable event of a Democratic administration at Washington during the next term. If Judge ABBOTT is not nominated for Governor, as he will probably not be, he will undoubtedly be made one of the delegates. Among the candidates for the three other places are EDWARD AVERY, of Braintree, who, it is expected, will preside to-morrow; Messrs. COLLINS and SPINNEY, of Boston; T. H. SWEETSER, of Lowell, and S. O. LAMB, of Greenfield.

The Young Democrats have been holding a meeting to-night to prepare the delegates for action to-morrow. The hall was crowded, but little enthusiasm was shown, the new doctrine being evidently unpalatable. The speeches were highly sensational, and though seemingly accepted, doubtless sounded strangely, and unpleasantly in Democratic ears. Mr. THOMAS RILEY, the President of the Boston Young Mens' Democratic Club, a dignified and ambitious young Irishman, was the President of the evening, and fifty or more, who have identified themselves one way or another with the new departure, assisted as Vice-Presidents by sitting in hard-woodichairs on the platform. Mr. RILEY made on the whole a good Republican speech. He declared that there must be no equivocation in Massachusetts as there has been in Ohio and Maine. It must take the new departure fair and square, for on that alone depends the future of the Democratic Party in this country. It must choose delegates to the National Convention of next year which is to nominate a President, who shall be pledged to say to ALEX. H. STEPHENS and the South: Your slaves are free and are never to be paid for, and the amendments to the Constitution are sacred, and in all probability will never be altered. Co-operate with us; take the new departure and forever part company with us. Mr. RILEY denounced the action of delegates in the two former National Conventions, declaring that MCCLELLAN, the most damnably abused man in the country, was placed on a platform which damned him and the party also, and that the nomination of the last Convention was entirely out of joint. He made a very labored effort to show that the great mass of the Democratic Party never believed in or supported slavery; but, as can be imagined, wofully and ludicrously failed; and he over and over again appealed to the progressive Democrats of todwy to swallow the new departure whole as their only hope. JOHN K. FARBOX, a lawyer of Lawrence, the rising man of the Democracy, followed also, with a strong new-departure speech. He however endeavored to conciliate the old war horses of the party, who seem sorely tried by the antics of younger men, and to show that the new-departure doctrine was in reality nothing new, and by no means a departure from old-established Democratic principles. Concerning the constitutional amendments, he said it was policy to accept them, and it was also right, sensible and patriotic. On them is built all of law and order there is in the South, and to overthrow them would be to bring anarchy and ruin. All the South wants is to be let alone. Other reformers spoke in the same strain. A Republican straying into the hall could easily imagine himself at a meeting of men of his own party. There were only occasioned Democratic bursts and these were so mild, so well tempered, and so gently put, that they made but little impression. The new-departure men seem to have a majority here, and so something quite refreshing and out of the traveled course may be expected from the Convention to-morrow. Circulating through the crowd to-night I have heard a good deal of talk about Tammany. It was in one strain. No sympathy is shown with the grand combination headed by TWEED and tailed by HALL, recently so strong, but now evidently near destruction; but the belief is quite generally expressed that Tammany will be the ruin of the Democratic Party if it is not speedily thrown overboard.

Sixth Ward Independent Working-Men's Association—Anti-Tammany Speeches.

Last night a meeting of the Sixth Ward Independent Working-men's Association was held at the Kesselz Hotel, No. 475 Pearl-street. Mr. M. GITRICK occupied the chair, and Mr. E. NORTON acted as Secretary.

Mr. P. MERRIGAN made an effective speech in favor of being independent in all political matters. He preached he said, the true doctrine of Republicanism, which means freedom of thought and action as regards political matters. At the same time he gave it as his opinion that all good men, no matter to what political party they may belong, should be sustained. He took occasion to give Tammany some severe hits. An address was also made by Mr. E. NORTON in favor of Col. WARREN, and the meeting adjourned.

Eleventh Assembly District.

The Eleventh Assembly District Union Republican Association met last evening at No. 1,193 Broadway, Mr. THOMAS C. FACTON in the chair. Thirty new members were proposed and referred to the Committee. This gives the Association a membership of over 300. The meeting, which was quite large, was addressed by Judge WHITE, Mr. GILETTE and others.

REFORM DEMONSTRATION.

Rally of Independent Voters of the Twenty-First Ward—Stirring Addresses by Hon. R. B. Roosevelt, Ex-Judge Barrett and Others.

The mass-meeting of the Independent Voters' Association of the Twenty-first Ward, in Glass Hall, in East Thirty-fourth-street, last evening, was a very large and enthusiastic affair. Mr. DAVID M. KOEHLER presided. Among those present were Ex-Sheriff O'Brien, Gen. Joseph C. Jackson, Mr. Josiah Carpenter, Hon. R. B. Roosevelt, Ex-Judge Barrett, Mr. John Campbell, Mr. H. Elsner and others.

Mr. KOEHLER, Chairman, made a few remarks explanatory of the object of the meeting, after which he introduced Mr. NOONEY, who offered, for the adoption of the meeting, the following resolutions:

Whereas, The tax-payers of the City have deemed proper, for their own protection, to form an independent association in the Twenty-first Ward to guard against the corruption of the present City officers, controlled and upheld by the so-called Tammany Ring; and,

Whereas, A great many similar organizations have been formed in the various wards of this City, for the purpose of insuring justice to the honest candidates placed in nomination, and prevent the outrageous and willful repeating practiced at our elections for a number of years past, by which means unprincipled men have gained positions of trust and power, to the exclusion of faithful and honest men; and,

Whereas, It is a well-known fact that these creatures are but tools in the hands of the Tammany Ring, doing their bidding to the detriment of the true interest of the citizen they pretend to represent, as seen in the vast and uncalled for expenditures just made public; also that they are not the representatives of the majority of voters, but have gained their position through bribery and repeating; now therefore be it

Resolved, That it becomes the bounden duty of every true citizen, who has the welfare of his country at heart, to elect only such men as are known to be worthy, and administer the affairs of our City Government honestly and without corruption.

Resolved, That it is the sincere wish of this Association that every voter, without regard to political opinions, will give aid toward the election of the right men in the right places, and not allow obscure and dishonest men to hold positions of trust, whose only aim is to misrepresent our principles and become rich by appropriating the City's wealth; and furthermore, be it

Resolved, That the recent exposures of gross financial corruption existing in our City Government having brought shame and disgrace upon the Democratic Party, we call upon his Excellency Gov. HOFFMAN to suspend from office Messrs. HALL, CONNOLLY, TWEED and SWEENY, pending an official investigation into the alleged charges, and if found guilty, to punish them to the utmost extent of the law.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted, amid great applause.

The Chairman next introduced Ex-Judge WILLIAM C. BARRETT, who was loudly cheered as he advanced to the front of the platform. He said: I merely appear to satisfy my friends of the Twenty-first Ward that I am now, always have been, and ever expect to be, on the side of honesty, of right, and of justice. [Applause.] I am at present engaged in one of the heaviest litigations ever before the Courts of our City and State. I am endeavoring, with the aid of other counsel, to bring to the bar of justice the men whom, unfortunately, you have elevated by your votes to the positions which, in my judgment, they have disgraced and degraded; and I fondly trust and confidently believe that before the case in which I am engaged will terminate, the City of New-York will find that the purity of our Judiciary, which has frequently been assailed, will, in your estimation, be vindicated, and that justice and right will be meted out to those men who have plundered and despoiled your Treasury. [Applause.] Fellow-citizens, I thank you for your quiet and peaceful reception, and when I contrast it with the reception with which which I was greeted last October when speaking from this platform. I am consoled with the hope and I confidently believe that a mighty change has taken place in the public mind. I then appeared as the opponent of Mr. OAKEY HALL—as the opponent of a man with whom I have been on terms of intimacy for twenty-five years—as the opponent of a man with whom I had social and friendly relations—a man whom I was instrumental in installing into the office of Assistant to the honest, honorable NATHANIEL B. BLUNT, now deceased. Why did I oppose Mr. OAKEY HALL? Because I knew in my heart that he was deceptive. When I first knew him he was a Whig. When I followed him along he became a Know Nothing; he changed to be a Republican, and then he became a mongrel Democrat, and through all these stages he worked himself up by cunning and by craft until he became Mayor of your City. Oh, my friends, if I had time to travel through the political life of that man, I could show you acts of dishonor which would disgrace any man in the estimation of an honorable community. Gentlemen, let me for one moment travel back to the closing hours of the last Legislature. A young man of indomitable bravery, a young man loved by the people, a young man whom we have known from boyhood, a young man incorruptible, a young man the friend of the poor—JAMES O'BRIEN—[great cheering]—he, on the eve of our Legislature, starts for Albany. A crowd of friends, as he thought, follows by his side. Mr. NORTON, Mr. CREAMER and Mr. GENET were, as he thought, his faithful adherents. He went to protect the rights of the people, with a charter prepared by the friends of the Democratic Party—and how was he treated? Abandoned by his friends; your WINANS and others turned traitors; and, Sir, the very money which has within the last few months been shown to the public as plundered from the City Treasury, went to corrupt our Legislature, as admitted by our Democratic friends. JEMMY O'BRIEN was deserted by his friends, NORTON, CREAMER and GENET, and returned back to his friends in the City of New-York defeated, but not conquered. You got a charter through the aid and instrumentality of Messrs. TWEED, SWEENY, HALL, and CONNOLLY; and oh! my God, my friends, what has been the result? The power that was invested in the people of the City of New-York they were deprived of. The highest office, which was formerly the gift of the people, your Controller, in whose election you have a voice, the man who held the string of your purse, the man of all others who should be looked after and controlled, guided and governed, and kicked out if he was dishonest—that was plundered and taken from you by your friend BILL TWEED, PETER B. SWEENY and OAKEY HALL. And what has been the result? When Mr. HALL, on Jan. 1, 1869, became Mayor of your City, the public debt of the City and County was over $50,000,000; and what is it today? On the 31st of July last—two years and five months subsequently—your debt was over $147,000,000; so that in a little over two years of the reign of these plunderers the debt has increased at the rate of nearly $50,000,000 a year. Have you been benefited by it? Is there a man within the sound of my voice who does not know, that every man of these four were, some ten or twelve years ago, like other men in middling circumstances. They are today walowing in wealth; and within a day or two you find that Mr. CONNOLLY has transferred to his son-in-law, Mr. FITHIAN, more than half a million of dollars in the five-twenty bonds of the United States. I could say more, but I am going into consultation to-night for the protection of the rights of the people. [Cries of "Go on."] I do not expect to lay my side upon a bed to-night. I expect to work for the people; and with the help of God, if I am sustained and my strength supported, I will fight on. I shall ever fight until these assumed rulers shall be scouted from our community, and until the Democratic Party shall once more become independent, and become the rulers of the City and the State. [Cheers.] One word—and it is a sad word. These four men have not only depleted our Treasury, so that working men cannot get from the Controller's office a dollar of their daily wages, but they have damned and destroyed the Democratic Party in our State; and I greatly fear that the exposures which have been made of their corruptions will aid the Republicans, and that the Republican Party, which is in a minority of 100,000 in our State, will be victorious in the next election. And in heaven's name is the Democratic Party for the gratification of four corrupt, wicked, designing men of our own party, to sacrifice that great party which we all love, and under which our country has prospered, and, with the blessing of the Almighty, shall forever prosper. [Great cheering, during which the gentleman retired.]

Hon. ROBT. B. ROOSEVELT was the next speaker. He was loudly cheered on rising to address the audience. He said: Gentlemen, for the last ten years I have been somewhat perplexed in determining what Democracy was. Before that period I had the impression in my mind that Democracy meant the government of the people, by the people, and for the people. I had in my mind the old-fashioned opinion—perhaps obsolete now, but I hope reviving—that the virtue of the community rested in the people, the power of the community existed with the people, and the rights of government depended upon their will and on their action, and I always thought that Democracy was the exemplification of that doctrine; but in looking back upon the history of our City, it seems to me that for some time past I must have been in error. Democracy, as it existed in New-York, seems to me the government of four men, at the expense of all the rest of the men that were to be found in the confines of the City of New-York. Democracy, instead of giving a representation to the people, putting forward the power the persons who were respected by the people, who had the confidence of the community, who could command votes, was merely an expression of the will, held in private and secret caucus, of four individuals. [Applause.]

At the conclusion of Mr. ROOSEVELT's address Mr. SAMUEL D. SEWARD was introduced, and made a few remarks. He was followed by Mr. JOHN LANDSMAN, who said that it was necessary for the preservation of the Democratic Party that the leaders of the Ring should be thrown overboard. Without honest and capable public officers to represent it the party would become a hollow fraud. The first cause of the bad state of affairs in the City was say, the great intellectual capacity of PETER B. SWEENY. It is very true that SWEENY could not carry his own Ward to save his life; but somehow or other we were all to believe that he was the only man in his own Ward but in the whole community. How we had described to us the executive capacity of WM. M. TWEED, and the great knowledge of figures displayed by, and the great financial ability of RICHARD B. CONNOLLY, and the immense brilliancy, the great intellectual capacity, the immense resources, the spirit, the jokes, the talents of A. OAKEY HALL. [Laughter.] It seemed to me, as far as I could judge, that all Democracy was centred there; and if a man wanted to succeed in life, to raise himself with the aid of those abilities which Heaven and Providence bestowed on him, he must not go among his fellow people, or make himself acquainted with his neighbors: he must not give proof of his capacity; he must crawl humbly and quietly, and in a complimentary manner to the feet of SWEENY and HALL. Now, that might be Democracy. It certainly has been the Democracy we have had for the last ten years, but I think we are going to effect a slight change in it; to show to some of those gentlemen that they are not precisely what they were believed to be, and that the occasion has arrived when we could put the talent of SWEENY to a test, for we are going to run against his brother-in-law a man who can call out all the intellectual capacity SWEENY possesses. This wonderful Ring, this concentration of power that ruled New-York and controlled everything here, that pretended to be the Democracy of the country, got along very well, and passed for a fine concern until it was tried. It never had any great force strained upon it till lately, and then we are offered a very beautiful evidence of the power of these gentlemen when they are put to the test. When these frauds were exposed; when the attack was made by the people on this Ring; when the community arose in their might and demanded the privileges of which they had been deprived, these men of transcendent ability were for the first time put on trial; and did you ever see a more disgraceful exhibition of incompetency than they have shown in the last three weeks? Have they done a single thing sensible or wise? I don't ask you whether they did anything honest, because I am aware you all know about that. They could not do anything good after ten years of the training they had. [Laughter.] But when the charges were first given, what did they do? They undertook to defy the people, who in this country—this land of freedom—are the very source of power under which they pretended to exist. They asked the people what they were going to do about it. I think we will show them. What did they do next? They attempted some prevarication about some old Board or other in which they were not interested, although TWEED was the President and ran it. They undertook to make charges against the gentleman who attacked them, and then burned up the vouchers, so that they could say they did not know anything about them. That is their intellectual capacity. Why did they not come out squarely and in the thing through, and say they had not paid any such money—that they had not paid five millions to INGERSOLL, three millions to GARVEY, and one million five hundred thousand to KEYSER? It would not have been right to lie; but there is an old-fashioned maxim that the man who will lie will steal, and the man who will steal will lie. [Great laughter.] Now we have had a great deal of this exhibition of great ability. I am looking on this consideration of Democracy with a great deal of interest. I think we are all looking at it. We have a great principle and interest involved, and if they go on much longer we won't have much principal or interest left in the City of New-York. The last phase of this affair is the attack made by HALL on CONNOLLY. He said: "Mr. CONNOLLY, you know how matters are: the public have an impression things are not quite right; those five millions of dollars we won't say much about, or the three millions of dollars, or the one million five hundred thousand dollars, we won't say about that either. But you know these vouchers have disappeared rather curiously; I think, under the circumstances, it would be just as well if you did the handsome thing, taking the whole matter on yourself, retire and be heard of no more." OAKEY HALL is a brilliant man. We must believe it, because we have heard it for ten years past—and what we have heard for ten years persistently, must be true. He would not act in this matter unless he was fully prepared for the consequences; and so he told CONNOLLY, "You must get out quietly, gracefully, and do the thing handsome, and if you don't do that I will turn you out." That was all very well as a stroke of brilliant genius; but some difficulties sometimes interfere with genius, and the difficulty in this case was, that CONNOLLY would not "git." He declined to be a scapegoat. He did not like to go in the Wilderness, and said he could not be made responsible for all the wrong, and it was no use to try to get him out. And so he retaliated with HALL. Speaking of the payments to INGERSOLL he said, "that $5,000,000 you paid as much as I did, for you signed the warrants that I signed, and the $3,000,000 to GARVEY we divided fair and square like men and Christians, [laughter and applause,] and as to KEYSER, "he was a Republican; we gave them as little as we could give, and we took $8,000,000 to ourselves. I don't think I ought to go out alone; I don't object to you and me going arm and arm, but I don't want to go alone." HALL said, "If you don't go I will kick you out," and the duty next fell on HALL to kick him out, and he began to think how to do it. If he said CONNOLLY was a criminal, that he did what was wicked and disgraceful, he cheated the City, and betrayed the men who trusted him, swindled the community, taken money of the taxpayers, did what should send him to Sing Sing. Very good! But the inconvenience of all that, was OAKEY HALL could go to Sing Sing with him. [Laughter.] As to the vouchers it was all well to say they were gone; but who took them? CONNOLLY said, "You have them." And HALL said "CONNOLLY, I don't know anything about them, but I think you have them, and anyhow between us both we know we were devilish glad to get rid of them," and so the fact of the matter was that all HALL could say before the community was, that they were gone. [Great laughter.] That was hardly a case for impeachment. HALL said he would consider. He did not object to CONNOLLY so much as he thought he had objected; they were friends for years; stood together like man and brother, and after all, if CONNOLLY did not want the reason he would not say anything more about it. That may be brilliant tactics, an exhibition of wonderful skill, the masterpiece of all political talent, but I can't see it. I will tell you what we are going to do. I think we are going to give them a little taste of the other style of language. We will put before them men who represent the people, men who will go to the people, and carry their own wards when they try, and sometimes can carry more. I don't know there is a single gentleman of that Ring who, if left alone and standing on his own merits, could by any possibility be elected constable in his own ward. [Laughter.] As to PETER B. SWEENY, I don't think he will ask his friends to elect him again. As to CONNOLLY, he was elected last Fall. He got his term extended, slipped a ballot through, said there was to be no election, and as there was no opponent, he got along well, and if you take these men right through, I don't think you could honestly and fairly and squarely poll more than one thousand votes a piece, which is not very extravagant; but we propose to put them to the simple test. We will take men whom we know, and who have the confidence of the community. We will nominate them in all the districts, and then we will see what the Ring can do when they are fighting the people. We will show what we can do when we are about it, and in that connection, I don't know I could refer to any district in this City with more confidence of the result than I can to this. I have only had the pleasure of being acquainted with the gentleman who will probably represent you, I might say, but more properly represent the people against the representation of four men. I say I have not had the pleasure of his acquaintance but for a few years, but I must bear testimony to this, that when I first knew him I found him in a position where any man would be proud to be, standing forward for the rights of the people, and not only doing that but standing by his friends. I found him stepping to the front and getting the whole brunt of the battle. He had no pecuniary interests, for I was informed by the Tammany men themselves that they were willing to buy him up if he was willing to be sold. But he refused their allurements. He stood by the friends who have confidence in him, standing to the front boldly, and from that time to this I have learned to respect JAMES O'BRIEN. [Great cheering.] I tell you those are qualities which will appeal to the community. It is not merely that he is known to you personally, and respected by all of you individually who have known his virtues, but it is that he is to be credited with qualities that will win him honor and respect everywhere [cheers]—and not only stands by the people that he represents, who not only carries with him the hearts of those who know him and surround him, but who is true to his friends under all circumstances, true to the pretended friends even who betrayed him afterward. The man who stands forward to the consequences of his acts, who steps forward boldly to bear whatever may be placed upon him, or do what he regards his conscientious duty, that man, I tell you, has a hold on the community which cannot be shaken. And now, all that I ask of you to do, is, every one of you, to help carry forward his views, and, in carrying forward his views, vindicate Democracy. Stand up against the rule of four men, and prove what the rule of the people is in comparison. Show that the mind of the people, representing the people, backed by no power, opposed by all the wealth, by all the influence, by all this concentrated power of machinery that might be brought to bear against him; show to the community what he sustained by your votes, upheld by your hands, carrying with him your hearts, can do in the cause that he has most deeply at heart; and, gentlemen, I ask of you simply to vindicate these principles, vindicate the old doctrines of Democracy, by making Mr. JAMES O'BRIEN Senator from this district. [Applause.]

At the conclusion of Mr. ROOSEVELT's address Mr. SAMUEL D. SEWARD was introduced, and made a few remarks. He was followed by Mr. JOHN LANDSMAN, who said that it was necessary for the preservation of the Democratic Party that the leaders of the Ring should be thrown overboard. Without honest and capable public officers to represent it the party would become a hollow fraud. The first cause of the bad state of affairs in the City was traceable to the rule of four men, to whom the fair and proud City of New-York crouched in cowardly submission. Another cause of the trouble was the disregard paid to the principle laid down by JEFFERSON in not first ascertaining whether candidates for place were honest and capable.

At this part of the proceedings Ex-Sheriff O'BRIEN entered the hall, and was received with the most enthusiastic applause, cheers being given for him as the next State Senator from the district. In a few brief words he said he was with the people in the present fight against the Ring. A stirring address was made by Gen. JACKSON, Ex-United States Attorney, after which the large assemblage dispersed.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

At the Exchange yesterday, Sept. 13, the attendance was larger than usual, and the following business was transacted: JOSEPH MCGUIRE, by order of the Supreme Court in partition, under the direction of JAMES H. COLEMAN, Esq., referee, sold a lot, 25 by 100, with four-story brick building front, and frame building on rear of same, located on the east side of Norfolk-street, seventy-five feet south of Stanton, for $10,800; A. ADELSDORFER being the purchaser. The price realized was about what the property was considered worth. The leasehold property on Fourth-street, embracing seven houses and lots, advertised to be sold by the same auctioneer, under a Supreme Court order in foreclosure, was not disposed of, the suit involving the title to the same having been settled. JAMES M. MILLER, by order of the Supreme Court in foreclosure, ROBERT SUTHERLAND, Esq. referee, sold the premises known as No. 363 Third-street, north side, between Avenue B and Louis-street, described in the notice of sale as two lots, with the buildings thereon. The two lots, however, form an irregular plot of ground, having a front of fourteen feet six inches, extending back some ninety feet, with a rear line of about forty feet. Upon the property is an old building in front, and in rear some stables of but little value. The realty was purchased by J. HENDRICKS, for $2,000 over and above the mortgage foreclosed, amounting with interest and costs, to $3,212, making the total sum paid, $5,212. The four-story brown-stone house and lot on Thirty-fourth-street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, noticed for sale, on account of a former purchaser, by MULLER, WILKINS & CO., was not offered, the matter having been indefinitely postponed. Nothing further relating to real estate occurred, but Messrs. MULLER & CO. subsequently sold the following securities, for which the percentage prices noted were realized:

Forty-seven shares Hamilton Fire Insurance Company, par value $15 each, sold at $141 per share; seven shares Bowery Fire Insurance Company, par value $25 each, sold at $208 per share; ten shares Sterling Fire Insurance Company, par value $100 each, sold at $86 per share; and forty shares Metropolitan Gaslight Company, par value $100 each, sold at $211 per share.

In reference to the sale at Mamaroneck, Westchester County, held yesterday by S. DINGEE & CO., a report will be made to-morrow.

The auction sale of building lots at Whitestone, Long Island, on Tuesday, conducted by JOHNSON & MILLER, was not only very largely attended—some 1,200 buyers and others being present—but the result achieved was in every respect a satisfactory and gratifying success, all the lots offered being disposed of at really good figures, while the total of the sale reached the large sum of $75,000. Full details are given below, with the names of purchasers in each instance stated. The property sold belonged to Mr. JAMES BLACKWELL, who was perfectly satisfied with the result of the day's work. Throughout the auction the bidding was spirited, and the interest was fully maintained until the termination of the sale. The auctioneers are to be congratulated in having had charge of the transaction, for in every way it may be regarded as one of the best suburban sales of the year,

For today at the Exchange no sales are advertised, but at Passaic, N. J., on the ground, at 12½ P. M., A. D. MELLICK, JR., & BROTHER will offer at auction 200 desirable building lots, so situated as to be well worthy the attention of investors. Should the day prove pleasant and a storm not render a postponement necessary, we shall undoubtedly be able on Friday, in our detailed report of the sale, to give a good report. A special train will leave from foot of Chambers and Twenty-third streets via ferry, at 11¼ A. M., for which free passes can be obtained of the auctioneers, No. 6 Pine-street.

FIRST MORTGAGE GOLD BONDS

INTEREST 7 PER CENT.
Payable in New-York City December and June.
WHOLE ISSUE.....$6,000,000
This road runs from Alexandria, Mo., where it connects (via Keokuk) with the shortest routes to the East, and, PASSING THROUGH THE EARLIEST SETTLED, WEALTHIEST, AND MOST POPULOUS TIER OF COUNTIES IN THE STATE OF IOWA, connects at Nebraska City with the Midland Pacific Railroad to Fort Kearney, on the Union Pacific Railroad, forming a direct line from San Francisco to New-York ABOUT 100 MILES SHORTER THAN ANY EXISTING ROUTE OF CONNECTED LINES. Along the route connections are made with the North Missouri, Missouri and Mississippi, and St. Louis and Omaha Railroads. The road will be in operation from Alexandria to Memphis, Mo., a distance of 40 miles, within a few weeks, and will be fully completed and equipped to a connection with the North Missouri Railroad (60 miles) by Dec. 1, which will insure a large and paying traffic.
The whole length of road, including branches, will be 200 miles. The SUBSCRIPTIONS ALREADY OBTAINED ALONG THE LINE AMOUNT TO $615,000 ON THE FIRST 100 MILES, and the Company is assured that the counties west will subscribe sufficient to grade, bridge, and tie the remainder of the road. The official statistics of the counties tributary to this line show a population of 222,926, and the soil is unsurpassed in fertility. This cannot fail to afford the road a large and profitable local business, while the advantageous connections East and West, making it an important section of the transcontinental line, must insure to it also a large through business.
We are authorized for the present to offer these bonds at the LOW PRICE OF 90 AND ACCRUED INTEREST, and we confidently recommend them to investors as a safe and desirable security.

First Mortgage, Convertible, 7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds

OF THE
PEORIA & ROCK ISLAND RAILWAY
(OF ILLINOIS.)
First Mortgage Bonds - - - $1,500,000
Capital Stock - - - - - - - - 2,000,000
This is a COMPLETED Road 91 miles in length, connecting the important Cities of Peoria on the Illinois River, and Rock Island, Moline and Davenport, on the Mississippi. Davenport, on the opposite bank of the river, is connected by a railway bridge. The last rail of this road was laid July 7, 1871, and the line is now open and being operated with a success exceeding all anticipation. In order to place upon the road the large equipment necessary for the business offered, and to construct depots, car and engine-houses, machine-shops, &c., equal to any of the best old roads in the country, as is now required of this, the Company offer, through the undersigned, $1,500,000 convertible first mortgage gold bonds, which cover the entire property of the Company, and is less than $17,000 per mile. PRESENT PRICE, 90, AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY. Principal and interest payable in coin at New-York or London, free of tax.
This road, opened for the immense local as well as through traffic, now offered, will prove one of the most profitable in the West, traversing as it does a section of country unsurpassed in fertility of soil and agricultural resources, already thickly populated and in a high state of cultivation. This is self-evident from the fact that every section of the road passes through cultivated fields and many flourishing towns and villages, with a large city and navigable river at each end. Railroads in the West have been heretofore constructed through unsettled and uncultivated regions of the country, consequently have had but little local traffic to depend upon for several years after construction. But the Peoria and Rock Island Railway is a first class COMPLETED road, with NO PARALLEL or COMPETING LINE, and RUNS THROUGH ONE OF THE RICHEST AGRICULTURAL, MANUFACTURING AND MOST POPULOUS DISTRICTS IN THE WEST. Thus it is certain that the local business is already more than enough to sustain the road, while the through traffic is unlimited, as its connections are numerous, which can be seen by a glance at the map.
This road is a grand central link, to which many of the principal lines centralize and diverge to all parts of the continent.
We invite the attention of investors to this loan. Being familiar with the wealth and resources of the country along the line of this railway and A MEMBER OF OUR FIRM HAVING MADE A CAREFUL EXAMINATION OF THE ROAD AND ITS PROPERTY, WE CAN WITH THE UTMOST CONFIDENCE RECOMMEND THE BONDS AS A PRIME SECURITY, reliable and safe in every particular.
All marketable securities received in exchange at full rates, and bonds delivered to all parts of the country, free of express charges.
Maps, circulars, &c., with full particulars relating to the road, furnished on application by the undersigned, Financial Agents of the Company.

The First Mortgage
Seven Per Cent. Gold Bonds
OF THE
MINNEAPOLIS & DULUTH RAILROAD CO.,
AT 87 1-2 AND INTEREST.
This line (thirteen miles in length) was completed last month from the thriving manufacturing towns of Minneapolis and St. Anthony to White Bear Station, on the Lake Superior and Mississippi Railroad, which latter Company has leased the line, guaranteed the bonds and agreed to provide a sinking fund that will retire them at or before maturity.
This route furnishes a long-desired outlet for the immense produce of the flouring mills of Minneapolis, via Duluth and the great Lakes; and will in return accommodate a large volume of Western-bound traffic.
The average product of flour of the mills at St. Anthony and Minneapolis during the past three years has been 250,000 barrels, of which four-fifths has been sent by rail to Milwaukee and Chicago, a distance of 440 miles, or upward; whereas the distance by rail from Minneapolis to Duluth is 157 miles, and the water carriage from this point to New-York is substantially the same as from Milwaukee or Chicago.
The opening of this new channel has already rendered the making of flour more profitable than heretofore at Minneapolis, and has so stimulated the trade that it is confidently believed the millers at that point will by degrees work up to their capacity, now estimated at 1,000,000 barrels a year.

The Troubles of the Legislative Assembly—A Genuine Row.

Paris (Aug. 31) Correspondence of the Pall Mall Gazette.

Yesterday afternoon, the National Assembly voted itself Constituent, and proceeded to constitute M. THIERS. It was hardly to be expected that such an important vote could be taken without a row, and those who went to Versailles to see a faction-fight were not disappointed. M. PASCAL DUPRAT, a member of the old Constituent of '48, was the first gentleman to take off his coat and trail it through the Assembly. But to begin at the beginning. At 1 o'clock the lobbies of the Chamber were crowded with Deputies greatly agitated, for it was feared that the Government was going to throw M. VITET's amendment overboard, and return to M. RIVET's proposition under the vail of an amendment by M. DE CHOISEUL. At 3 o'clock the President took the chair, and M. DE LAVERGNE ascended the tribune in the name of the minority, and on their behalf explained his objections to M. VITET's amendment. The minority wished the President to be revocable because he was responsible, and that he should communicate with the Assembly by message. It was replied that the present was not a moment to fight over principles. The minority demanded Ministerial responsibility as practiced in other free countries, but considered that this responsibility would be a delusion and a snare if the President could take part in the debates as a simple Deputy. The minority, continued M. DE LAVERGNE, believes that if every time a Ministry is at stake the Chief of the State has the right to defend it, that is nothing but the establishment of a disguised dictatorship. The minority objected to this all the more strongly as the Government, added the orator, differs with the Chamber on all the important questions under consideration. M. VITET defended his handiwork, and accepted M. DUFAURE's additional clause or vote of confidence, though, as he remarked, the proposition to make M. THIERS President naturally carried with it an expression of confidence. And it is not to be supposed that the French Deputies, like the Yahoos, choose the ugliest and most objectionable of their number to rule over them. The Keeper of the Seals then rose, and declared that under the circumstances the Government might have felt tempted to accept this or that amendment, but that it would now accept the proposition of the Committee. There were some exclamations on the Left, but the majority of the Assembly gave visible symptoms of satisfaction, and members shook hands and congratulated each other. The close of the general discussion was voted by an immense majority, the extreme Left alone protesting.

AMENDMENTS PROPOSED.

A regular hecatomb of amendments followed when the House passed to the discussion of articles. However, M. PASCAL DUPRAT, being opposed to the usurpation of the constituent power, refused to withdraw an amendment he had placed on the paper. He said the Chamber ought to vote the Budget, the Army bill, and the Electoral law, and then dissolve itself, and to show that the Assembly was not constituent, be reminded the Chamber of the terms of the armistice of the 28th of January, in which the Prussians decreed that a National Assembly should be called to vote peace or war. [Interruption, and cries of "Were you returned by Prussia?"] On being reminded of a speech he had made at Sedan, M. PASCAL DUPRAT stammered, broke down, and left the tribune. Then rose Gen. DUCROT to crush the Radicals under his heel. Among other things he reminded the Assembly that on the 21st of March it had solemnly promised, in a proclamation addressed to the army and the people, to organize the country and constitute a Government. [Loud applause.] M. TOLAIN protested against what had passed in Committee. Gen. DUCROT added that the proclamation was voted by the whole Chamber, with the exception of one member—the citizen MILLIERE. M. SAINT-MARC GIRARDIN addressed the Assembly in favor of article I. After a few minor orators had been heard, M. LOUIS BLANC made a short speech against the constituent and against the elected confiscating the power of the electors. "There can only be one sovereign," he added, "and that is the country." After a few words from M. DE KERDET, M. BARAGNON ascended the tribune, and was about to honor the Chamber with his opinions on this knotty subject, when he had the misfortune to allude to the men of the 4th of September, who upset the Empire. Whereupon a voice to the Left shouted, "But for these men you would be still licking the Emperor's boots," or words to that effect.

A FIGHT.

It is probable that no Constituent Chamber ever witnessed a more violent and discreditable scene than that which followed this interruption. The whole Chamber rose to protest against the coarse language of M. TESTELIN; one Deputy, M. DE CESY, flung himself on the culprit, caught him by the throat, and almost strangled him in an attempt to force him to his knees to ask pardon. Several other members joined in the struggle, Col. LANGLOIS being conspicuous in the fray, and behaving like a "convulsionnaire de St. Médard." There was a regular cross-fire of epithets, and the Chamber resembled for some minutes so many windmills, so wild was the waving of arms. Among other cries one could catch the, "Insolent!" "grossier personage!" "le goujat!" "l'incendiaire." M. GREVY, finding his bell useless, put on his hat, and in due time the tumult subsided, and M. TESTELIN was marched to the tribune and called to order. He apologized to the Chamber, and declared, with much show of contrition, that the unfortunate remark he had been guilty of was not intended for his colleagues. After this explanation, and in consideration of his having been nearly strangled, the call to order was withdrawn, and M. TESTELIN made his escape from the Assembly. The Princess of METTERNICH is said to have fainted away in the diplomatic box during the fight. When order was restored, M. BARAGNON went on to demolish M. PASCAL DUPRAT, whose amendment was defeated by an immense majority.

M. GAMBETTA'S SPEECH.

M. GAMBETTA then appeared in the tribune, and attacked article 1, because it was useless, because it was an encroachment, because it was an apple of discord. The proposition was useless, he said, because everything was going on quietly before it was introduced, [cheers on the Right,] and the country had a right to expect the continuation of this truce. M. GAMBETTA then protested against the Chamber having the right to found anything definitive, as the country had returned them simply to finish with the war. [Protestations on the Right.] The very fact of his being at that tribune discussing the question of the existence or non-existence of the constituent power proved that it did not exist. [Applause to Left, objection to Right.] It was certain that when the elections took place the question of the Monarchy or the Republic was not brought before the electors. [Lively interruption on the Right.] M. GAMBETTA went on to attack article 1 in a violent manner, and to justify his own attempt to convoke a Constituent Assembly, and after many interruptions, he at last said: "I tell you that if you wish to use the Constituent power to organize either a Republic or a Monarchy, you will be undertaking a work of sovereign temerity and most impolitic, and, to make a clean breast of it, without wishing to offend you, I may add that I would not accept a Republic created by an incompetent Assembly. [Lively interruptions on the Right.] The Republic which I desire I place above all party attacks. [Voice: 'What did you do on the 4th of September?'] On the 4th of September we overthrew the Empire which you proclaimed." [Lively agitation on Right.] An exchange of sharp language took place between the Right and Left, the President had to invite the Assembly to respect its dignity, M. GAMBETTA afterward having accused the Right of wishing to prolong the present state of uncertainty in which the country is plunged in order to profit by it, the Right would listen to him no longer, and he left the tribune. During one part of GAMBETTA's discourse remarkable for showing that he and his party have completely separated themselves from the Left Centre, a cry was more than once repeated, "Ah! the dictator." M. THIERS had promised his friends not to be present, but he could not resist the temptation. However, he remained a mute spectator. Mr. SEWARD was present with Lord LYONS, and was fortunate enough to witness what was at least an interesting sitting.

TURKEY.

A Revolt Against the Albanian Government—Slaughter of Mountaineers.

According to the Levant Herald, dispatches have been received at the Porte reporting the junction of a portion of the Catholic Albanians with their Mussulman comrades in revolt against the Government, followed by a severe encounter between the troops and the mountaineers. The Governor-General had ordered a general disarmament, and this was carried into effect on the 18th ult. Whether it was this measure which fanned the flame of revolt, or the news of the withdrawal of the recall of the unpopular vali, certain it is that the Catholic mountain tribes immediately flew to arms and marched upon Scutari to the number of 4,000 men. At two or three hours' distance from the town the rebels were met by the whole of MEHEMET ALI PASHA's division outside the walls, and an engagement ensued, in which the Albanians with their old flint firelocks were literally mowed down by the modern rifles and mitrailleurs of the soldiery, and driven back in wild confusion to the hills, leaving, it is said in one dispatch, 2,000 killed and wounded on the ground, although this number is probably exaggerated. According to the latest dispatch received, of course from the Government side, it was not until the Commander-in-Chief had made a fruitless effort at conciliation and the Albanians had themselves opened fire upon the troops that extreme measures were resorted to; and then (says the dispatch) "we only had to mourn the loss of a few martyrs, but the mountaineers fell by hundreds under the breech-loaders of our infantry." With reference to ISMAEL PASHA, the Turkish paper Haakik states that his recall from the Governor-Generalship of Albania was decided upon by a large majority at a recent Council of Ministers at the Porte, but subsequently the Council reconsidered its decision, and resolved to maintain him, for the present at any rate, at his post. Strong representations, however, have been made to him as to the future line of conduct he is to pursue for the improvement and better contentment of Albania.

SPAIN.

A Visit of Prince Humbert—An English Opinion as to the Vitality of the New Dynasty.

Madrid (Aug. 26) Correspondence of the London Times.

Prince HUMBERT, the heir to the crown of Italy, is at present on a visit to his brother, King AMADEO. He arrived at the Escorial Railway Station on Monday morning, where he was met by the King and the Ministers. After a visit to the grand old monastery—the pride and the folly of PHILIP II.—a walk in the gardens, and a breakfast in the palace, the party set off in diligences of the true Spanish type for La Granja, where the Court have been residing since the closing of the Cortes. La Granja, being still without railway communication with the outer world, can only be approached in this old-fashioned and comfortless way. A ride of five or six hours in a dirty Spanish diligence, drawn by six or eight mules, up and down hill, amid the heat and dust of an August sun, would be terrible, indeed, if it were not rewarded in the end by a view of that lovely spot where PHILIP V. displayed his hatred of the monkish seclusion of his ancestor, PHILIP II., by erecting the gayest of palaces and the grandest of gardens as a place of resort from the cares of State, in opposition and contrast to the solemn and stately pile of the Escorial, the hobby and delight of the priest-ridden PHILIP II. The royal party reached La Granja at 7 o'clock, covered, as may be imagined, with dust, and looking more like two bakers than like a King and a King to be. A dinner and serenade that night, a parade of the troops, and a hunt in the forest the next day terminated Prince HUMBERT's visit to La Granja. He and the King came to Madrid on Thursday. The Queen joined them last night, and to-morrow there is to be a grand review of the garrison in Madrid, in which 18,000 troops or more will take part. On Monday or Tuesday the Prince will leave for Lisbon. Great speculation exists as to the object of his visit. Some say it is an evidence of the anxiety of VICTOR EMMANUEL for the condition of Spain, and the insecurity of the person and dynasty of his son, AMADEO. If so, let me assure his Italian Majesty he need give himself no uneasiness at all. Notwithstanding the disgraceful and willfully false misrepresentations of the Republican (Alfonso and Montpensier) Press—notwithstanding the even greater revilings and misrepresentations of the Clerical Press, I have no hesitation in expressing my belief that the dynasty of King AMADEO is as firmly secured as if it had been indigenous to the soil. The courage and amiability of both King and Queen have given them a hold on popular affection which not all the machinations of their enemies and all the ravings and lies of an insignificant portion of the Press, including dozens of papers which could not live twenty-four hours if the supporting purses of opposition leaders did not make up for their scant circulation, can possibly diminish. That there are men in Spain capable of shooting the King is true, but their number and their motives must be greatly diminished by the seven months' experience the country has had of his rule, in which he has displayed good sense, and a determination to steer by the Constitution which the Spanish people have given themselves, whereby they already see peace and order beginning to be consolidated and prosperity beginning to dawn. England produced men who could attempt the life of their Queen, but no man for that would say the Queen's life was in danger. So, with all the talk and all the rumors of attempts and intended attempts on the life of King AMADEO, he is about to prove his reliance on the people by starting off on the 9d of September on a fortnight's trip to the provinces, when he will visit Valencia, Saragossa, Barcelona, and other places, which he has been told are the hotbed of opposition to his dynasty and hatred to his person. The Queen will probably accompany him. The Carlists are "reported" to be once more intending to create disturbances, but if they do they will be beaten worse than ever. It is said their profits were fully discussed the other day by the King and the Ministers, and that when Gen. CORDOVA told His Majesty he had every measure prepared to crush them the moment they rose, the King opposed the plan, urging that they should be permitted a few days' fling, in order that, deceived by appearances, they might congregate in greater masses, and then be fallen on by the troops, and their rout be the easier and the more effectual.

THE WORKING MEN.

Large Demonstration of the Trades Union—Parade and Mass-Meeting of 8,000 Men—A Demand for the Enforcement of the Eight-Hour Law.

The rain which fell just after noon yesterday did not prevent the demonstration of the working men, who gathered according to the programme, and just after 2 o'clock the procession started. The rain held up just about that time, so that muddy walking was the only real inconvenience it caused. Nineteen societies were represented in the line, numbering in all a little less than 8,000 men by actual count, the whole marshaled by Mr. CURRAN, of the stone-cutters. At the head of the line, after the platoon of Police and the band, marched the Stone-cutters' Society, numbering about 1,500 men. They wore yellow aprons, with a hand holding a mallet depicted upon them, and their banner of blue silk bore the legend, "Industry and art. The most untoward substance yields to our skill." The stone masons, who came next, wore white aprons adorned with squares, chisels and other implements, and were also quite numerous, having about 1,100 men in their ranks. Some of the most striking banners in the line were borne by the International Society—made of plain red cloth, with black lettering. The painters marched in the line preceded by a cannon drawn by twelve of their number dressed in professional suits of canvass with red trimmings, and carrying a banner with the motto, "The Eight-hour law; peaceably if we can, forcibly if we must." The rank and file of the painters carried an immense number of banners with various inscriptions indicating the sentiment which prevailed among them, set forth in such terms as these: "Our strength lies in the justice of our cause; let the working men of the world unite." "When peaceable efforts fail, then revolution."

Next after the 800 bricklayers came the United Order of American Plasterers, 1,000 in number, making by far the most imposing show of the whole. A rank of pioneers in pretty costumes of white jacket and trousers, with blue trimmings and blue ribbon around the little white caps, preceded a triumphal car, adorned with flags having a splendid plaster cornice in front richly gilded and surmounted by a colossal eagle also of plaster heavily gilt. Along the sides of the car were mottoes like these: "We will support those that give us our rights." "Our next Governor will enforce the Eight-hour law." "Our State Capital must be plastered at eight hours a day." "No more talk, we mean business," &c. The whole structure to the crest of the eagle was at least twenty feet high, so that it caught on many of the telegraph wires as it was drawn through the streets by its six white horses. The line of march was from Second-avenue to Twenty-third-street, thence to Broadway, then up to the Worth Monument, down Broadway to Seventeenth-street, to Fourth-avenue, down Bowery and Chatham-street to City Hall Park, and up Broadway to Cooper Institute. On Union-square there was a large crowd, and also a considerable number of spectators at the Cooper Institute when the procession passed on its way down-town, but at the corner of Astor-place and Broadway, when they came up the jam was tremendous. The stone-cutters there opened ranks, and the other societies passed through, keeping up steady cheers during the whole of the fifty minutes' time occupied in passing the point. At the Cooper Institute the societies separated.

During the march there were several fights, the most serious of which occurred at the corner of Nineteenth-street and Third-avenue, where one man was quite severely injured. Another man named EDWARD SMITH, of Bloomfield, Westchester County, was seriously injured by the bursting of a cannon used in firing a salute at Second-avenue and Twenty-third-street, and some other persons were slightly injured by the same occurrence.

THE MASS-MEETING.

In the evening, a mass-meeting was held at the Cooper Institute, which drew a fair audience, though there were some empty seats at the back and in the corners of the hall.

Mr. WM. J. JESSUP, the President of the Working Men's Union, took the chair, stating that the meeting was held to procure the enforcement of the Eight-hour law, which has been nominally passed, but was really disregarded by the State Government.

A long array of resolutions were then read by the Secretary. They demanded the abolition of class legislation, by which the working classes were said to be daily cheated and robbed, and also the punishment of Commissioners and others in charge of State, City and County buildings, who have exacted more than eight hours for a day's work. The Commissioners of the State Capitol are charged in the resolutions with being privy to plundering the State funds by allowing the Superintendent of the Capitol, JOHN BRIDGEFORD, to credit men on the pay-rolls of the Capitol for work while they were employed by him on private buildings, and for this the removal and punishment of BRIDGEFORD is also demanded. The action of the authorities on the new Post-office is denounced for disregarding the Eight-hour law. The abolition of convict labor is demanded, as well as the employment of skilled laborers alone on public works, and the enforcement of the Eight-hour law, and finally it is resolved that the Government itself should conduct all coal mines, railroads, and steam lines, gas-works, canals and telegraphs, thus furnishing abundance of steady and useful labor to the people. Speeches were made by Messrs. QUINNE, of the stone-cutters, TROUP, and STEWARD of Boston; the latter presenting an address from the Eight-hour League of that place.
